John Swainson Quits Michigan Supreme Court

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Former Gov. John B. Swainson resigned Friday from the Michigan Supreme Court, five days after he was convicted of lying to a federal grand jury.

Swainson, a World War II veteran who lost both legs when he stepped on a land mine, was the first Michigan Supreme Court justice ever convicted of a felony.

Swainson made his decision known in a handwritten letter delivered personally to Gov. William Milliken late in the afternoon after Swainson flew to Milliken's hometown of Traverse City.

In explaining his resignation, Swainson said, "The law is clear ... I am compelled to submit to you my resignation as a justice."

Swainson, a Democrat, added: "I sincerely regret that I must do so, but — whatever the results of my appellate procedures — I would still be disqualified to continue under law in this office." He was referring to an earlier court ruling that a justice convicted of a felony must step down immediately, even while appealing.

The perjury conviction stemmed from a grand jury's investigation of a charge that Swainson was part of a $30,000 bribery conspiracy that involved getting a new trial for convicted burglar John Whalen.

Swainson was convicted of lying to the grand jury when he denied receiving a television set from Detroit bail bondsman Harvey Wish on Oct. 7, 1972, when Swainson denied discussing Whalen's then-pending appeal on the telephone with Wish on Oct. 8, 1972; and when Swainson denied leaving a phone message for Wish on Oct. 19, 1972. The message said the Supreme Court had agreed to hear the Whalen appeal.

Swainson was acquitted of a more serious charge of conspiring to accept a bribe, which the prosecution said was made so Swainson would influence the court in Whalen's behalf.

He faces five years in prison and a $2,000 fine on each of the three perjury counts.

Wish was convicted of conspiracy in the case. Whalen was the government's chief witness against Swainson. On Thursday a pre-dawn explosion and fire ripped through an unoccupied home owned by Whalen, and authorities said arson was the cause.

Swainson had served as governor, lieutenant governor and state senator prior to serving on the court. He was elected in 1969 to a two-year term as governor, but lost a re-election bid in 1972 to Republican George Romney. He was elected to an eight-year term on the high court in 1970.

Milliken, a Republican, had remained silent on the question of whether Swainson should resign, but other Republicans called on Swainson to step down.

Swainson's resignation leaves the court with two Democrats, three Republicans and one avowed independent.

Milliken, who will appoint a successor to Swainson, said Thursday he would give Swainson about 10 days to decide what to do before making a statement. Other Republicans, including state Senate Minority Leader Robert Davis of Gaylord and House Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne of Manistee, said Swainson should resign.

Charges of mail fraud and illegal use of the telephone were dropped during the trial.

The case against Swainson went back to 1972 when the FBI and U.S. Justice Department launched a multi-pointed inquiry into his alleged moves in seeking a new trial for Whalen.

Whalen's involvement in the case began when he was con-taking sheep out to slaughter," a Berrien Circuit court judge yesterday convicted Terry Y. Langford of two counts of first degree murder.

Judge Chester J. Byrns delivered the verdicts late Friday afternoon against the 24-year-old Langford, of Benton Harbor, and remanded him to the county jail without bond privileges to await a mandatory sentence of life imprisonment.

The verdicts came after a 2½-day non-jury trial before Byrns which dealt with the insurance scheme-murders of Brenda Freeman, 26, and her son, Johnny, 7, of Benton Harbor, whose shotgun-riddled bodies were found in a Pipestone township ditch Sept. 27, 1974.

The boy was killed so his father, Johnny Dortch, could receive $15,000 in insurance benefits from a policy on the youngster, Byrns ruled in a 25-minute oral opinion delivered from the bench, and the mother was killed at the same time. The judge stated Langford was the man who killed the pair.

"If this was fiction it would be called a horror tale," Byrns said with disgust. "As truth it staggers human decency for callousness, cruelty, and brutality."

"These were murders for profit; they violate not only our human conscience but every moral and legal code since man's creation."

Langford, standing for the verdict, shifted his gaze from the judge to his attorney while the verdict was delivered but showed no outward emotion.

The judge charged the Freemans were "victims of a brutal, savage murder done in execution style" and said "both had been slaughtered."

"They were innocent victims of an insurance fraud scheme by Langford and at least one insurance agent — Johnny Dortch — the father of the slaughtered child."

"They were the victims of a shotgun which did these two horrors in the hands of a professional killer. The above facts are clear from the evidence," Byrns stated flatly.

"We feel it was a fair and just verdict," commented Chief Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell, who tried the case for the prosecution. Defense Atty. David Peterson, of St. Joseph, said he could not comment when asked immediately after the verdict if Langford planned an appeal.

Auto Dealer Slain; 3 Suspects Sought

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Police were searching for three men in the killing early Friday of a prominent auto dealer at his farmhouse in rural Oakland County.

William A. Brown, 68, a Detroit-area Ford Motor Co. dealer since 1939, died in an exchange of gunfire following the looting of his expensive gun collection, deputies said.

Lt. Billy Nolin of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said Brown and his wife, Madeline, apparently were awakened by noises as the three bandits were carrying several of Brown's expensive hunting guns from the 100-year-old house in Oxford Township.

Brown, armed with a loaded shotgun, ran to the door of the house and fired twice at the fleeing men before he was shot in the face by one of them and fell at his wife's feet, Nolin said.

Bob McGinis, the farm caretaker who lives near the Brown house, was tied up by the trio prior to the shooting, police said. McGinis could tell officers only that the men were wearing ski masks, Nolin said.

Pickup Sought In Hit-Run Death

The Benton Harbor state police post today reported that a 1963 GMC light duty pickup truck now is being sought in connection with the hit and run traffic death Oct. 29 of Edward Grau, 76, of 258 Helmar court, Fairplain.

The post reported the pickup sought may be orange or bluish-green in color.

An orange Volkswagen previously was sought, but the post said this type of vehicle was discounted after a report from the state police crime laboratory.

Grau was reported struck and killed while riding his bicycle to work around 3:35 a.m. on M-439, between Napier and Nickerson avenues, Benton township. A passerby saw the body in a business establishment driveway and notified police. There are no known witnesses to the accident, police indicated.

U.S. Grand Jury Lacks Evidence In Hoffa Case

DETROIT (AP) — A federal grand jury investigating the disappearance of ex-Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa has completed hearing testimony and does not have enough information to hand down an indictment, reports U.S. Atty. Ralph Guy.

"We're just hoping for a good lead," Guy said Friday, noting that all those named on an original witness list have appeared before the grand jury.

He emphasized, however, that the probe is continuing, and other sources said the investigation is as intensive as ever.

The probe started Sept. 2 and Robert Ozer, director of the federal organized crime strike force in Detroit, said at the time he planned to call 70 witnesses.

The witnesses before the grand jury included reputed Mafia figures, including Anthony "Tony Jack" Giacalone, Hoffa told friends and relatives he planned to meet Giacalone July 30, the day the ex-Teamsters president dropped from sight.

Giacalone denied he was to meet with Hoffa that day and said he was at an athletic club when Hoffa vanished.

Giacalone's attorney said his client took the Fifth Amendment before the grand jury because he was under indictment in unrelated tax evasion and fraud cases. Answering one question, the attorney said, would force his client to talk about all matters, even those unrelated to Hoffa.

Another key figure who testified before the grand jury was Charles "Chuckie" O'Brien, who calls himself Hoffa's foster son.

O'Brien told newsmen shortly after his grand jury appearance that he expected to be indicted despite claiming to know nothing about the mystery.

O'Brien became a key figure when it was disclosed he was driving a car belonging to Giacalone's son, Joseph, near a suburban restaurant where Hoffa was last seen on the day of the disappearance. O'Brien said he was in the area delivering a fish to a Teamsters Union official.

The FBI claimed later to have used special dogs to search the car, reporting the animals found Hoffa's scent in the rear seat and trunk.

O'Brien's attorney said his client took the Fifth Amendment before the grand jury because federal prosecutors handling the Hoffa probe were harrasing O'Brien.

Others who appeared before the grand jury included Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano, a former Teamsters official who Hoffa also may have believed he was on his way to meet July 30.

Provenzano, who served time with Hoffa, said he has not been

Cohen: Hoffa Is Dead

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former underworld figure Mickey Cohen says he has been told Jimmy Hoffa is dead and buried.

Cohen said, "Jimmy Hoffa's passed away. He's gone."

Cohen said the former Teamster Union leader who disappeared in Detroit last July, has been buried in "a lime pit" somewhere in the east and will never be found because the caustic substance will eat the body away.

Cohen, at the taping of a television interview Friday, said he received the information from "some people" but declined to be more specific about his sources, on Hoffa's possible whereabouts.

Family Hour Hauled Into Court

The television industry opened its 1975-76 season in September with a mishmash of movies and watered down live shows forswearing sex, violence, dope and other human proclivities which most parents try to keep away from their youngsters.

The bland diet for two hours in the early segment of TV's prime time band goes by the name of The Family Hour.

Family Hour is a consensus concoction between the three commercial networks, the Federal Communications Commission, which rides herd on all broadcasting, and Congress, which funds the FCC and on occasion changes the basic statutory under which the Commission operates.

Its genesis began with a number of parental organizations which feel that TV fare in the past few years has gone overboard on material more suitable for a men's smoker than for living room entertainment.

Backing up those groups are numerous experts in the behavioral sciences and crime prevention whose studies indicate there is some evidence that sex and violence oriented entertainment does stimulate some persons into anti-social conduct.

Many Congressmen first caught the message from their constituents which they passed along to the FCC, the networks and the National Association of Broadcasters.

Exactly what may have been discussed between the latter four groups is not a matter of record, but in any event Family Hour took up the air waves this fall fully laundered from sex, violence, profanity, and innuendoes.

Shows passed off for being fully adult in scope were not delisted, but their viewing times have been shoved all around the clock.

Last week the writers and producers of such fare as All In The Family, MASH, Sanford & Son, Rhoda and Maude filed suit in the Los Angeles federal court against the FCC, the NAB and the three major networks charging a conspiracy in violation of the First Amendment.

By way of permanent relief the plaintiffs seek a permanent injunction against Family Hour or any derivative from it.

The action brings two considerations into the open, if not for the very first time, at least in greater contrast than displayed heretofore.

One is the legalistic proposition of censorship.

Though one section in the Federal Communications Act specifically forbids censorship on broadcasting, another says the Commission must require all radio and TV stations, as governmental licensees, to operate in the public's interest, convenience and necessity.

This phase which is lifted verbatim from statutes franchising a railroad, a power company, a telephone line and other public utilities has been construed by the FCC to require what it calls balanced programming, something for all sexes, age groups, economic classes, ethnic and racial backgrounds, political persuasion, etc.

To date the courts have dodged the argument this authority implicitly embodies censorship. They have ruled the FCC may not prescribe the content of a broadcast unless it includes FCA direct bans on profanity and lotteries. Yet they have upheld FCC rules such as equal time (one political diatribe against another) and fairness (reply to a personal attack). Further they have sustained FCC requirements airing the diverse interests already mentioned.

The decisions, some fairly explicit, rest on the theory that the First Amendment's freedom of speech, press and religion provisos are not applicable to a licensed business.

The present action calls upon the courts to revise their prior thinking on the subject.

The second aspect is an earthier one which attaches to any money making enterprise.

Starting with its first clash with the Nixon Administration the TV industry has demanded First Amendment protection, either by judicial or Congressional action.

The battle has centered around newscasts, documentaries and commentaries. Spiro Agnew's description of the latter as instant analysis was one of many White House fulminations against what it felt was lopsided coverage.

Little, however, has been mentioned about TV's mainstay, its entertainment side.

So it is not surprising that Jack Schneider, head of the CBS Broadcast Group, rejects the suit as inconsequential. Family Hour, he declared, "represents a major and difficult advance in self regulation by a mature and responsible industry."

The revenue from entertainment far exceeds sponsorship payment for newscasts and documentaries.

This may be purely tangential to the fight with Nixon.

It also may be the plea for First Amendment sanction as something less than sauce for the goose being sauce for the gander.

Ever The Do-Gooder

Liberal intellectuals who view the world through their own narrow prejudices and frustrated desires for power are prone to go off the deep end

when a forum is offered. The chance to "do good" for someone with someone else's resources simply cannot be resisted.

In Stockholm, Sweden, American anthropologist Margaret Mead gave her opinion to newsmen of that part of the world which bred and raised her to a position of some influence.

"Our society is a flop and a screaming failure," was the less than demure assessment. "But at least," she added, "we are becoming aware of the problems and starting to know what questions to ask."

Strange that every national problem becomes a major calamity, in the view of people like Miss Mead, which can only be solved by the creation of still more government. "We need," according to the Mead prescription, "institutions to control the distribution of resources."

We already have the greatest distribution mechanism ever devised, the free market. No "institution" can so effectively distribute goods, services or resources in accordance with the wishes of the people, which is still what this society is all about.

CUTS SHOULD START AT TOP

Editor,
I read in your Wednesday, Nov. 5 issue that the president of the Benton Harbor Area Schools board was "crying" to the state legislature in Lansing that the cuts in the budget for Michigan, proposed by Gov. Milliken, would cost the local Benton Harbor schools $300,000 this year and that cut backs would be necessary.

I would like to advise the board that when they make the cut backs, they should do it in the areas where the students and teachers are not hurt. It can be done very easily.

When a businessman has a reduction in business and income, he cuts back by laying off employees, purchases less and has his remaining employees double up on other jobs until the crisis passes. The area schools can do the same thing and NOT lay off teachers or cut back on educational benefits for the student. How?

If you will look at your telephone directory under Benton Harbor Area Schools you will find the following listings: Superintendent-Deputy Supt. for Administrative Services, group directors for Business & Finance-Elementary Education, Secondary Education, Personnel — Labor Relations, Public Relations, Directors of Special Education-Evaluation, Operations & Facilities, Food Service, Transportation, Vocational Career Education, Supervisor of Custodians, Supervisor of Maintenance, and on and on. A good many of these employees are furnished automobiles with the job, and not the economy size, but the "gas guzzler" type.

My solution to the problem is lay off 50 per cent of those people with the big titles, sell the cars and let each remaining big title double up on the jobs (many are not really necessary) and put out a good days work for a change.

I am sick and tired of reading and listening to the Benton Harbor Area Schools "big shots" complain about funds and the lack of funds. We all know that every time there has been a millage increase, the administrative staff receives the lions share, and the teachers and students receive very little. I believe if you will check your newspaper files over the past 10 years, you will find that some of the administrative personnel have received from 75% to 90% increases in income in those 10 years. This is ridiculous, they are not worth it, the quality of education produced by the Benton Harbor Area Schools is ground zero compared to other schools across the country.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —

A team of professional consultants has recommended that Lake Michigan college should be located in the Twin Cities area, but that the campus should be moved out of its present location in Benton Harbor to a nearby rural tract. In a site study report presented to the LMC board of trustees Sunday afternoon, Associated Consultants in Education, Inc., Tallahassee, Fla., recommended a location between Napier and Meadowbrook road, a short distance east of I-94.

— 25 Years Ago —

Harry F. Kelly, two-times war governor of Michigan, squeaked to a 4,228 vote victory over Democratic Governor G. Mennen Williams in Tuesday's general election — but it probably will take an official canvass to make certain of the winner. Reports from 4,296 of the state's 4,361 precincts — including all but six from Wayne (Detroit) county — gave Kelly 919,533 and Williams 915,305, the closest race since 1884.

— 50 Years Ago —

Miss Esther Cohen, teller at the Farmers & Merchants National bank, Benton Harbor, was made "queen" of the Elks' club Saturday evening, Nov. 7, when she won the $250 diamond in the popularity contest, the closing feature of a week of festivities in the Marigold ballroom in Benton Harbor. Miss Mary Jenkins, of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., won second place in the contest, receiving a $50 wristwatch as a prize. Third place went to Miss Gladys Schuller of The News-Palladium. The other contestants placed as follows: Miss Lila Locscher, fourth, Miss Georgia Wilton, fifth, and Miss Gertrude Jack, sixth.

— 75 Years Ago —

The police in Benton Harbor say that trade is dull in their line, there having been only seven arrests made in September; five in October and none so far this month.

Election night when the returns were being received at Hotel Benton in Benton Harbor there was a pretty sight, one which was worth seeing in the crowd of people present. About 8 o'clock little Hallie Collins, daughter of Fred B. Collins who was elected sheriff, rushed into the hotel and through the crowd and ran to her father and cried out in an excited joy: "Papa, you are elected." The scene cannot be described.

EPA Ineptness

Will Hurt Us All

WASHINGTON — A friend of mine, then at the Environmental Protection Agency, was asked by agency attorneys to devise a practical sensor to determine when the temperature of water in a river or lake rose by a tenth of one degree.

He complied, then asked what they wanted the gadget for. We'll put one near every nuclear power plant, they said. And if the water temperature goes up a tenth of a degree, we'll slap the owner with a violation.

Nonsense, said my scientist friend. What evidence do you have a tenth of a degree would make any difference?

That's not the point, the lawyers replied. Raising the water temperature is illegal.

Luckily that ruling has been changed. But it took a battle. More recently, the chairman of the advisory committee for one EPA division suggested that some strict new requirements being placed on industry might be unreasonable and technically incorrect, and therefore might better be checked by a government board of independent scientists to determine their validity.

The answer came back. These efficient limitations are prepared by our legal counsel and we want them to stand up in court, because we know there will be suits — and they will go to court. So we can't take it to the technical experts you suggest, because they might make changes. Then we'd be forced to send the regulations back to our attorneys. And they might not like what the scientists had done.

So while you might be right that these technical requirements are wrong, we'll have to live with them.

As a result of this atmosphere at EPA, the agency is being gutted of the first-rate scientific and technical staff it opened with. My friend, a scientist of some note who now holds a high post in another agency, says that every technical man of ability he knew at the time he was there has now left the agency.

One area's scientific and technical staff has shrunk by 90 per cent. In one field closely involving public health there is not one board-certified physician serving.

The technical decisions are now being made by a different breed.

One example will suffice. An EPA official the other day in a small meeting said that her secretary, a young lady just graduated from college last June in geology, had been made a project director in effluent standards.

This young lady, whose experience consists of a few months as secretary to the chairman of a board which considers effluents, "with on the basis of reading the literature, decide." She'll have a strong voice in deciding what effluent limits will be "and her decisions will be cast in concrete," the official said.

Present and past EPA officials tell me this is no isolated example. The competent scientists and technicians the agency started with have been heavily replaced with eager young men and women, each with a cause, but with little or no background for deciding whether the regulations they are proposing and helping enforce are logical, whether they are scientifically correct, or whether they help or hinder the ecology or human beings.

These newcomers apparently have little knowledge of industry and its problems. Nor do they seem to care.

Some officials at EPA have come to believe the agency will thus do great harm to American producers and to us all. We will pay for EPA's mistakes in higher costs, in a lower standard of living, and, in some fields, with a decline in the quality of our environment.

Franco Spain Not All Bad

Francisco Bahamonde is joining his ancestors and will be interred among thousands of others from both sides who fell during the Spanish Civil War.

He will lie in the somewhat pharaonic but also moving Valley of the Fallen outside Madrid, a huge underground vault planned by Franco himself, and meant to symbolize an end to division among Spaniards. In the Valley of the Fallen, the dead at least were to be, in T.S. Eliot's phrase, folded in a single party.

This hope was, of course, always doomed. The civil war in Spain will go on in one form or another, because it is a version of the civil war within the West.

Franco's name is certainly not in good repute among right-thinking people in Europe and America, and indeed his faults were obvious enough. But his achievements were also considerable, both for his own country and the West.

Franco's faults can be quickly summed up. He stayed in power much too long. He did not provide sufficiently for the transition. He behaved as if he did not really believe in his own mortality. On no particular morning when Franco woke up did it seem a good day to step down. Others will now pick up the hill for those illusions.

But Franco's achievements were also impressive, and since they are unlikely to be much mentioned elsewhere I will touch on them here.

From his victory in 1938 until now Franco ruled as a dictator. He certainly repressed dissent, as the phrase goes. The Spain in which he gained power, however, had been divided for years between the hard Left and the hard Right. There had never been a strong democratic center, or much of a middle class. No serious student of Spanish history believes that some version of parliamentary democracy would have flourished in Spain if Franco had stayed on his post in the Canary Islands in July, 1936. Civil disorder, economic chaos, and religious persecution under the Republic made civil war inevitable.

The notion that even today, almost 40 years later, democracy can provide stable government in Spain may also be an illusion. To be sure, I know numerous Spaniards who think that it can. But we have an enormous academic literature on the preconditions for democracy. They include a stable, middle class, relative prosperity, a moderate temper in internal affairs, and the absence of "non-negotiable" issues. None of these preconditions existed in Spain in 1936, and I am skeptical that they exist in sufficient strength today.

What we can say is that they do exist today to a greater degree than in 1936. But — and the qualification is a major one — the existence, now as then, of a large and well-organized Marxist Left guarantees that there will be non-negotiable issues. Under these circumstances a government has only three alternatives: a) lose out to Marxists, i.e., become Marxist, b) crush the Marxists, and c) exist in a constant state of political warfare with them.

Domestically, Franco accomplished a great deal. His repressive measures could be harsh, though less so in recent years. But he provided Spain with the longest period of internal and external peace since the reign of Ferdinand and Isabella. As the world goes that was no mean achievement, and it provided the foundation for genuine economic progress.

Family Hour Hauled Into Court

The television industry opened its 1975-76 season in September with a mishmash of movies and watered down live shows forswearing sex, violence, dope and other human proclivities which most parents try to keep away from their youngsters.

The bland diet for two hours in the early segment of TV's prime time band goes by the name of The Family Hour.

Family Hour is a consensus concoction between the three commercial networks, the Federal Communications Commission, which rides herd on all broadcasting, and Congress, which funds the FCC and on occasion changes the basic statutory under which the Commission operates.

Its genesis began with a number of parental organizations which feel that TV fare in the past few years has gone overboard on material more suitable for a men's smoker than for living room entertainment.

Backing up those groups are numerous experts in the behavioral sciences and crime prevention whose studies indicate there is some evidence that sex and violence oriented entertainment does stimulate some persons into anti-social conduct.

Many Congressmen first caught the message from their constituents which they passed along to the FCC, the networks and the National Association of Broadcasters.

Exactly what may have been discussed between the latter four groups is not a matter of record, but in any event Family Hour took up the air waves this fall fully laundered from sex, violence, profanity, and innuendoes.

Shows passed off for being fully adult in scope were not delisted, but their viewing times have been shoved all around the clock.

Last week the writers and producers of such fare as All In The Family, MASH, Sanford & Son, Rhoda and Maude filed suit in the Los Angeles federal court against the FCC, the NAB and the three major networks charging a conspiracy in violation of the First Amendment.

By way of permanent relief the plaintiffs seek a permanent injunction against Family Hour or any derivative from it.

The action brings two considerations into the open, if not for the very first time, at least in greater contrast than displayed heretofore.

One is the legalistic proposition of censorship.

Though one section in the Federal Communications Act specifically forbids censorship on broadcasting, another says the Commission must require all radio and TV stations, as governmental licensees, to operate in the public's interest, convenience and necessity.

This phase which is lifted verbatim from statutes franchising a railroad, a power company, a telephone line and other public utilities has been construed by the FCC to require what it calls balanced programming, something for all sexes, age groups, economic classes, ethnic and racial backgrounds, political persuasion, etc.

To date the courts have dodged the argument this authority implicitly embodies censorship. They have ruled the FCC may not prescribe the content of a broadcast unless it includes FCA direct bans on profanity and lotteries. Yet they have upheld FCC rules such as equal time (one political diatribe against another) and fairness (reply to a personal attack). Further they have sustained FCC requirements airing the diverse interests already mentioned.

The decisions, some fairly explicit, rest on the theory that the First Amendment's freedom of speech, press and religion provisos are not applicable to a licensed business.

The present action calls upon the courts to revise their prior thinking on the subject.

The second aspect is an earthier one which attaches to any money making enterprise.

Starting with its first clash with the Nixon Administration the TV industry has demanded First Amendment protection, either by judicial or Congressional action.

The battle has centered around newscasts, documentaries and commentaries. Spiro Agnew's description of the latter as instant analysis was one of many White House fulminations against what it felt was lopsided coverage.

Little, however, has been mentioned about TV's mainstay, its entertainment side.

So it is not surprising that Jack Schneider, head of the CBS Broadcast Group, rejects the suit as inconsequential. Family Hour, he declared, "represents a major and difficult advance in self regulation by a mature and responsible industry."

The revenue from entertainment far exceeds sponsorship payment for newscasts and documentaries.

This may be purely tangential to the fight with Nixon.

It also may be the plea for First Amendment sanction as something less than sauce for the goose being sauce for the gander.

Ever The Do-Gooder

Liberal intellectuals who view the world through their own narrow prejudices and frustrated desires for power are prone to go off the deep end

when a forum is offered. The chance to "do good" for someone with someone else's resources simply cannot be resisted.

In Stockholm, Sweden, American anthropologist Margaret Mead gave her opinion to newsmen of that part of the world which bred and raised her to a position of some influence.

"Our society is a flop and a screaming failure," was the less than demure assessment. "But at least," she added, "we are becoming aware of the problems and starting to know what questions to ask."

Strange that every national problem becomes a major calamity, in the view of people like Miss Mead, which can only be solved by the creation of still more government. "We need," according to the Mead prescription, "institutions to control the distribution of resources."

We already have the greatest distribution mechanism ever devised, the free market. No "institution" can so effectively distribute goods, services or resources in accordance with the wishes of the people, which is still what this society is all about.

CUTS SHOULD START AT TOP

I read in your Wednesday, Nov. 5 issue that the president of the Benton Harbor Area Schools board was "crying" to the state legislature in Lansing that the cuts in the budget for Michigan, proposed by Gov. Milliken, would cost the local Benton Harbor schools $300,000 this year and that cut backs would be necessary.

I would like to advise the board that when they make the cut backs, they should do it in the areas where the students and teachers are not hurt. It can be done very easily.

When a businessman has a reduction in business and income, he cuts back by laying off employees, purchases less and has his remaining employees double up on other jobs until the crisis passes. The area schools can do the same thing and NOT lay off teachers or cut back on educational benefits for the student. How?

Centenarian A 3-Year-Old, Computer Says

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The State Department of Motor Vehicles computer knocked 100 years off the age of Mrs. Maude G. Tull.

The computer rejected her application for renewal of her driver's license. Information fed to the computer showed she was born on Feb. 3, 1972, and 3 years old aren't allowed to drive in California.

A check of the original application showed Mrs. Tull was born Feb. 3, 1872, 103 years ago.

Area Hospitals Offering Free Diabetes Screening

Most hospitals in Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties will provide free diabetes screening tests as a community service in observance of National Diabetes Week, Nov. 9-15.

Hospitals are offering the free test to everyone over 18 in an effort to find the estimated 150,000 Michigan residents who have diabetes and do not know it.

According to the American Diabetes association, the disease is most accurately detected by testing a patient two hours after he or she has eaten a meal.

Those to be tested should finish one of the suggested meals listed below two hours before being tested and, most importantly, must not drink anything other than water, nor eat candy or cough drops, chew gum, etc., following the meal.

Suggested meals follow:

Breakfast — Fruit (banana, canned fruit or large glass fruit juice); one cup cereal (flakes or cooked); ½ cup milk; two teaspoons sugar; two pieces of toast or bread; one tablespoon jelly or jam; and coffee or tea (cream and sugar if desired).

Lunch — Hamburger and bun or meat sandwich; french fries or potato chips; large glass of pop or milk; dessert (cake, pie, pudding).

Hospitals offering the service are:

Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, and Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, Nov. 12 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon. Hospital workers will also give the tests Nov. 12 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Berrien Springs fire hall and the Eau Claire village hall.

Unity Hospital, Buchanan, Nov. 11 and 12 from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m., and Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon and 5 to 7 p.m.

South Haven Community hospital, Nov. 11 to 13 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Lakeview Community hospital, Paw Paw, Nov. 11 to 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac, Nov. 10 to 14 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

An association spokesman suggested that people call the hospital before going for the test.

In Michigan, diabetes is ranked as the fourth leading cause of death by disease, the leading cause of blindness and a contributing factor in half of all heart attacks.

Testing is limited to those who are not known to have diabetes. Children with a family history of diabetes may be tested if accompanied by an adult.

All those with positive tests will be referred to their physician or to medical clinics. The Michigan Diabetes association, a United Way of Michigan agency, will provide the follow-up for "positives," those whose test is outside of normal range, with a letter to the person tested and one to his physician indicating that further evaluation is needed to determine if diabetes is actually present.

Those who do not hear from the Michigan Diabetes association within eight weeks following the test will have had a negative test result.

Cherry Committee Law 'Constitutional'

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White ruled yesterday that the state law under which the Michigan Cherry Promotion Committee was formed is constitutional.

The ruling comes three years after Roy Dukeshorer, Benton township fruit and vegetable grower, filed suit against the then-new Cherry Promotion Committee.

The committee, established following a referendum by the state's cherry growers, collects money from cherry growers and uses it for advertising and promotion. Compulsory assessments of up to $3.75 a ton for cherries are levied.

The constitutionality of the Michigan Agricultural Commodities Marketing Act (ACMA), a question raised by Dukeshorer's attorney in an amended complaint, is all that remains of the original suit.

White in 1973 ruled that the original suit was filed improperly — seven months after the cherry growers' referendum instead of within 60 days of the vote. The state appeals and supreme courts upheld that ruling but ordered White to consider the constitutional question.

"This is Round 1," Dukeshorer's attorney said yesterday after hearing of the decision. "We're now back on our way to the court of appeals and the (Michigan) supreme court," Grand Rapids Atty. Ernest Sharpe added.

According to White, plaintiff's key arguments were that the Act surrenders and delegates taxing power and authority, vested solely with the legislature under the state constitution, to administrators.

Defendants in the case are B. Dale Ball, director of the state Department of Agriculture, and the Cherry Promotion Committee.

While Dukeshorer claimed that the cherry growers were paying a "tax," defendants claimed growers were paying a "special assessment." White pointed out in the ruling.

White ruled that the legislature wrote the 1965 Act so that marketing programs could be self-supporting. Stating that assessments are used for specific purposes, and taxes for general purposes, he concluded that the money raised from marketing programs is an assessment.

He continued: "ACMA plainly announces that any marketing program is to be funded by assessments levied upon those producers directly affected. The law is not capable of any other interpretation. Thus, the 'tax,' if it is such, complies with the Constitutional provision that it be distinctly stated."

The judge dismissed plaintiff's contention that the Act allows an unconstitutional delegation of the taxing power.

"This so-called tax is not imposed by the Director of Agriculture nor does the Commodities Marketing Act control it," he stated. "The tax becomes binding only after the passage of the referendum (by cherry growers themselves). If this is a 'delegation,' it is not the sort of delegation which the constitution was designed to forbid."

In an interview White said that the legislature can delegate the authority, but not the power, to tax. In modern society, he said, legislatures often state principles and delegate authority to implement programs.

Under the Act cherry growers in Michigan are assessed $3.75 a ton for tart cherries, $3 a ton for sweet cherries and $1.25 a ton for cherries used for juice. The assessments are collected by processors and remitted to the Cherry Promotion Committee.

The Michigan Apple Committee is also based on the same Michigan Act.

Van Buren Student
Total Down By 198

By DENNIS COGSWELL

Paw Paw Bureau
LAWRENCE — Enrollment in Van Buren county public schools is down by some 198 students this year compared to the 1974-75 school year, according to figures released by the intermediate school district.

There were 17,880 students enrolled in county schools the fourth Friday in September, the date on which state aid is based, compared to an audited 18,078 in 1974-75.

Four of the county's 12 public school districts showed increases while eight showed enrollment declines, according to intermediate school district figures.

School officials said there might be a few minor changes when the fourth Friday figures are audited.

Districts which showed increases, with last year's figure in parentheses included: Decatur, 1,419 (1,417); Gobles, 1,115 (1,108); Lawton, 1,020 (985); Mattawan, 1,948 (1,887).

Districts showing enrollment declines, with last year's figure in parentheses included: Bangor, 1,950 (2,013); Bloomingdale, 1,507 (1,532); Covert, 772 (792); Hartford, 1,728 (1,766); Lawrence, 882 (884); Paw Paw, 2,122 (2,211); South Haven, 3,377 (3,429); and Wood, 40 (41).

The Wood school near Bangor is the county's only remaining K-8 rural school.

Enrollment figures for the county do not include adult education students at Paw Paw and South Haven.

Those programs both experienced increases this year compared to last, school officials said.

At Paw Paw, community education climbed from 201 last school year to 379 this year. At South Haven, the enrollment is up from 104 to 103, school officials said.

Thomas Spratt, director of special services for the intermediate school district, said that in general, enrollment appeared to be leveling off. He said the increases in Mattawan (up 61 students) and Lawton (up 24) were probably because of new families from the Kalamazoo area.

Among parochial schools, Faith Baptist Academy in Mattawan showed the largest enrollment increase from 126 students last year to 171. There was also one new school, Trinity Evangelical Lutheran, Bangor, which has 18 students in its first year.

Others, with last year's figure in parentheses: Gobles Junior Academy, 57 (55); St. Basil, South Haven, 160 (182); St. Mary's, Paw Paw, 149 (119); St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran, South Haven, 77 (81); and Hartford Seventh-day Adventist, 23 (28).

Minority Contractors
Battered By Economy

By STEVE McQUOWN
Staff Writer

The nation's lingering economic woes have hurt the minority contractor more than others, according to the national president of the Minority Contractor's association.

In remarks prepared for delivery at a banquet in downtown Benton Harbor last night, John Bingham said minority workers are usually the last hired and the first laid off in a money pinch.

It is going to require a combined local, state and national effort to improve opportunities for the minority contractor, said Bingham.

Bingham, who heads the 3,000-member national association, said big contractors should share with minority contractors plans for development of a community.

Otis Carr, Detroit, president of the state association, urged local members to cooperate more closely with the state organization.

He said minority contractors have not gotten their share of state highway construction and other state contracts.

By working together, he said, it is hoped the state association can open doors of opportunity for local builders.

Ellis Hull, owner of H & H Construction of Benton Harbor, said there needs to be a little more moderation at both ends of the political spectrum.

All minority contractors want, he said, "is an American's chance to compete in the job market."

The Friday night banquet at the Shangri-La restaurant, 105 East Main street, was part of the two-day, quarterly seminar of the state association. Serving as hosts for the seminar were Benton Harbor-Benton township association members and their wives.

Hull is president of Benton Harbor-Benton Township Minority Contractors and a director of the state association. Samuel Hayes is vice president of the local association, a state director and third vice president of the state association.

Judge Rejects
Bondsman's Bid
To Suspend Rule

Berrien county bondsman must follow a Fifth District court rule which bars them from carrying on business in that court, Circuit Judge William S. White said yesterday.

At a special hearing yesterday White ruled against a Benton Harbor bonding firm's request that the superior court suspend the District court rule which took effect Monday.

Under the rule people who post bonds for a living are no longer allowed to do business in the lobbies of District court. Before the administrative order was signed by all District court judges and took effect bondsmen could move freely in the court lobby, although they weren't allowed inside courtrooms.

Frank Bovo, of Bovo Hall Bonding Company, Benton Harbor, filed suit in Circuit court Thursday asking that the rule be vacated. Bovo asked the court to stay the rule, in the meantime, until the suit comes to trial.

According to Judge White, plaintiff is claiming that District court has no power or authority to pass such an administrative order.

At yesterday's hearing plaintiff argued that the new rule makes bonding more cumbersome because bondsmen must wait in the lobby of the county jail to post bonds.

White held that the Bovo showed no "irreparable damage" as a result of the order and denied the request to stay it.

"Any court has the power to run its own affairs," White observed following the one and one-half hour hearing.

White said that District Judge Leo Cook appeared at the hearing and said bondsmen create a problem in the court. At times, White said Cook said, bondsmen nearly come to "distractions" when they approach a potential client.

The lawsuit against the order will come to trial at a later time, White indicated.

College Costs To Be Topic Of BH Meeting

Just what does it take to afford college today? On Wednesday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m., Benton Harbor High school students and parents will have an opportunity to find out.

Margaret Christal, Lake Michigan college director of financial aids, will be on hand in the Benton Harbor High school Bierman library to provide information, answer questions, and help parents find the proper directions as graduation begins to grow closer.

Members of the BHHS guidance department will assist Miss Christal in her presentation about:

Costs of attending college, scholarships, loans, grants, work-study programs, using the PCS (Parent's Confidential Statement), BEOG applications (Basic Educational Opportunity Grant).

Students and parents from both public and parochial schools are encouraged to attend.

School For Administrators

Administrators of the Benton Harbor Area Schools will be returning to the classroom Nov. 13 for an afternoon workshop titled "School Administration: The Managerial Perspective." The Michigan Association of School Boards will be producing the work sessions, which are designed to provide information to school administrators about complicated employee contracts. As a followup, school board chief negotiator Darrel Jacobs will be hosting a workshop with administrators on the new agreement with the Benton Harbor Education association to explain some of the dozens of changes made during recent negotiations. The workshop will be held at Benton Harbor high school, and will run from 3 to 6 p.m.

Area Hospitals Offering Free Diabetes Screening

Most hospitals in Berrien, Van Buren and Cass counties will provide free diabetes screening tests as a community service in observance of National Diabetes Week, Nov. 9-15.

Hospitals are offering the free test to everyone over 18 in an effort to find the estimated 150,000 Michigan residents who have diabetes and do not know it.

According to the American Diabetes association, the disease is most accurately detected by testing a patient two hours after he or she has eaten a meal.

Those to be tested should finish one of the suggested meals listed below two hours before being tested and, most importantly, must not drink anything other than water, nor eat candy or cough drops, chew gum, etc., following the meal.

Suggested meals follow:

Breakfast — Fruit (banana, canned fruit or large glass fruit juice); one cup cereal (flakes or cooked); ½ cup milk; two teaspoons sugar; two pieces of toast or bread; one tablespoon jelly or jam; and coffee or tea (cream and sugar if desired).

Lunch — Hamburger and bun or meat sandwich; french fries or potato chips; large glass of pop or milk; dessert (cake, pie, pudding).

Hospitals offering the service are:

Memorial hospital, St. Joseph, and Mercy hospital, Benton Harbor, Nov. 12 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Berrien General hospital, Berrien Center, Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon. Hospital workers will also give the tests Nov. 12 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the Berrien Springs fire hall and the Eau Claire village hall.

Unity Hospital, Buchanan, Nov. 11 and 12 from 10 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m., and Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. to noon and 5 to 7 p.m.

South Haven Community hospital, Nov. 11 to 13 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Lakeview Community hospital, Paw Paw, Nov. 11 to 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Lee Memorial hospital, Dowagiac, Nov. 10 to 14 from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 to 3 p.m.

An association spokesman suggested that people call the hospital before going for the test.

In Michigan, diabetes is ranked as the fourth leading cause of death by disease, the leading cause of blindness and a contributing factor in half of all heart attacks.

Testing is limited to those who are not known to have diabetes. Children with a family history of diabetes may be tested if accompanied by an adult.

All those with positive tests will be referred to their physician or to medical clinics. The Michigan Diabetes association, a United Way of Michigan agency, will provide the follow-up for "positives," those whose test is outside of normal range, with a letter to the person tested and one to his physician indicating that further evaluation is needed to determine if diabetes is actually present.

Those who do not hear from the Michigan Diabetes association within eight weeks following the test will have had a negative test result.

Cherry Committee Law 'Constitutional'

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White ruled yesterday that the state law under which the Michigan Cherry Promotion Committee was formed is constitutional.

The ruling comes three years after Roy Dukeshner, Benton township fruit and vegetable grower, filed suit against the then-new Cherry Promotion Committee.

The committee, established following a referendum by the state's cherry growers, collects money from cherry growers and uses it for advertising and promotion. Compulsory assessments of up to $3.75 a ton for cherries are levied.

The constitutionality of the Michigan Agricultural Commodities Marketing Act (ACMA), a question raised by Dukeshner's attorney in an amended complaint, is all that remains of the original suit.

White in 1973 ruled that the original suit was filed improperly — seven months after the cherry growers' referendum instead of within 60 days of the vote. The state appeals and supreme courts upheld that ruling but ordered White to consider the constitutional question.

"This is Round 1," Dukeshner's attorney said yesterday after hearing of the decision. "We're now back on our way to the court of appeals and the (Michigan) supreme court." Grand Rapids Atty. Ernest Sharpe added.

According to White, plaintiff's key arguments were that the Act surrenders and delegates taxing power and authority, vested solely with the legislature under the state constitution, to administrators.

Defendants in the case are B. Dale Ball, director of the state Department of Agriculture, and the Cherry Promotion Committee.

While Dukeshner claimed that the cherry growers were paying a "tax," defendants claimed growers were paying a "special assessment," White pointed out in the ruling.

White ruled that the legislature wrote the 1965 Act so that marketing programs could be self-supporting. Stating that assessments are used for specific purposes, and taxes for general purposes, he concluded that the money raised from marketing programs is an assessment.

He continued: "ACMA plainly announces that any marketing program is to be funded by assessments levied upon those producers directly affected. The law is not capable of any other interpretation. Thus, the 'tax,' if it is such, complies with the Constitutional provision that it be distinctly stated."

The judge dismissed plaintiff's contention that the Act allows an unconstitutional delegation of the taxing power.

"This so-called tax is not imposed by the Director of Agriculture nor does the Commodities Marketing Committee control it," he stated. "The tax becomes binding only after the passage of the referendum by cherry growers themselves. If this be a 'delegation,' it is not the sort of delegation which the constitution was designed to forbid."

In an interview White said that the legislature can delegate the authority, but not the power, to tax. In modern society, he said, legislatures often state principles and delegate authority to implement programs.

Under the Act cherry growers in Michigan are assessed $3.75 a ton for tart cherries, $3 a ton for sweet cherries and $1.25 a ton for cherries used for juice. The assessments are collected by processors and remitted to the Cherry Promotion Committee.

The Michigan Apple Committee is also based on the same Michigan Act.

Engagement and wedding forms are available in the women's department at The Herald-Palladium offices in Benton Harbor or St. Joseph. The pertinent information should be typed or plainly printed in filling out these forms to prevent errors.

Wedding forms should be picked up at least two weeks and turned in one week before the wedding is to take place.

When wedding information is sent within two months of the engagement announcement date, only ONE picture will be run. The bride-to-be may have her choice.

Use proper names — not nicknames. In wedding information, use husband's names for married attendants.

Only pictures of the bride in her wedding dress will be used. Formal glossy black and white portraits are preferred.

Engagement and wedding pictures are usually available at this newspaper office after publication for a short time.

Use Blouses As Smocks

Save old blouses and shirts for children to use as smocks to wear when they paint or play with messy things.

This saves clothes from becoming soiled and stained while allowing youngsters more freedom in their play. And garments are easily laundered after hours of fun!

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Don't Skip Funeral

Dear Ann Landers: I'm sure I'm not the only person who's had this problem, and I'd like your opinion on how it should be handled.

My brother is dying. He was my favorite and I am very sad. Before he passes on I would like to know if it would be all right if I did my mourning at home and skipped the funeral. I would prefer to remember my brother as he was and not see him laid out in a casket.

Funerals have always been depressing to me. I do not care for the "social" luncheons that follow. The sobbing of relatives is out of place since their grief never seems to interfere with their appetites. Sign this — Needling To Know

Dear N.T.K.: Go to the funeral, since it will be your last act of respect for your dear brother. You can simply avoid the casket. Also — you can skip the luncheon.

Your absence from the funeral would be an affront to your brother and to the other members of the family.

Surplus Ashtrays

Dear Ann: You will be happy to know I've quit smoking. So what's the problem? It's those ash trays that I have all over the place. What should I do with them?

Don't say "throw them away." Some are collector's items — crystal, porcelain, ceramic, brass, copper, pewter — real gems. One is a valued treasure, a gift from a friend who didn't stop smoking soon enough.

I placed a few in the bathroom as soap dishes. Any other suggestions? — Mrs. Clean and Glad

Dear Mrs. Glad: How about putting aromatic flower petals in several? It creates a lovely scent in the room. Also sunflower seeds, pistachio nuts, and hard candy. You might plant a small cactus in one of the pewter or brass ash trays. As for the others — let's face it, some people still smoke, so leave a few out for their convenience. Poor things.

Ungrateful Kids

Dear Ann Landers: After 25 years of marriage my wife died. Our children were all married by then. Two years later I married a lovely widow with children and grandchildren. We've been happily married for 12 years.

My children were very pleased when I remarried. As they put it, "We don't have to worry about you any more." It appears what they meant was, "We don't have to be bothered with you any more."

My children never include us in their Thanksgiving or Christmas plans. Although we invite them to our place they are always "too busy." I must make an appointment to see my grandchildren. To put it bluntly, I never hear from my children unless they need money. My stepchildren are just the opposite. They ask us to all their children's birthday parties, school plays, and we are included in all their family affairs. My sons-in-law invite me to go fishing with them and I enjoy it immensely.

Problem: I've done well financially. When my children were growing up I sent them to the best schools. The girls had beautiful weddings. Now, since they seem to have so little interest in me I feel like leaving my money to my stepchildren. My wife says it would cause a terrible row. What do you think? — Puzzled Dad

Dear Dad: Any family heirlooms should of course go to your children, but you don't owe them an inheritance. If you want to leave your money to your stepchildren because they treated you so well during your lifetime, go ahead and do it.

How young is too young for a child to learn about sex? That's just one thing you'll find in Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." Send 50 cents in coin, along with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope, to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois, 60120.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The Professor looked over the dummy for a few moments, spread his hand and remarked, "I'm glad I've changed a point and opened a 20-point two notrump. If either diamonds or clubs break three-two I have thirteen top tricks. If neither suit breaks, I can make my grand slam on a squeeze which I can develop against any and all distributions."

The Professor won the club in his own hand, led a second club to dummy, noted that clubs had not broken and proceeded to cash dummy's king of diamonds and his own queen, to note that East held a diamond stopper.

He cashed dummy's last club honor and his own last diamond honor, and his three high trumps, while discarding the last club and last diamond from dummy.

Everyone was down to four cards. West had to keep the high club, East the high diamond. Neither one could guard spades, so all the spades were good.

You readers can get considerable fun out of seeing how the hand makes it if West stops both minor suits, and if East holds the club stopper instead of West.

Ask the Jacobys

A reader from Maine wants to know if it is unethical to think a long time and then bid or pass.

The answer is that slow bids and slow passes should be avoided as much as possible because they put a burden on your partner.

He is supposed to make his next call without paying attention to the fact that you had a problem. If he does take advantage of your hesitation he is being unethical.

FOR SUNDAY NOV. 9, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
Don't try to dominate center stage in your peer group today. If you do, the notices you get from your friends won't be "raves."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Unfortunately, you won't be sufficiently relaxed today to enjoy some light-hearted pursuits. You need to take time to smell the roses.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Keep your counsel today unless it is specifically requested. Otherwise, you could be embarrassed when told to mind your own business.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
You may feel that the assets of a close associate are partly yours. Avoid this erroneous impression. He may feel otherwise, and so advise you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
You and your mate may not see eye-to-eye on things early in the day. It would be extremely unwise to let little disagreements mar your whole weekend.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You could be a little grumpy about any work you have to do today. There's no problem unless you're working with tools. Be careful!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
Being too generous could be your fault today. Money flows easily through your fingers. You're short for your ruined budget!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
There are enough problems at home without adding those of an outsider to the pile. Avoid creating new dilemmas for the family.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Today, you'll tend to overlook the doughnut and see only the hole. You indulge in an unusual spell of pessimism.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Everyone you meet seems to have his hand out today. You're not obligated to give unless you sincerely feel you should.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
You won't have faith in plans unless they are of your making. This is fine, but being too outspoken about it may alienate others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
It may be a little hard for you to crawl out of your shell today. Force yourself to get moving. Later, you'll be glad you did.

Your Birthday
Nov. 9, 1975

You will form a unique and creative alliance this coming year. You will be the "front man," but the money and power sources will be hidden from others.

For Monday, Nov. 10, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
One friendly with you socially will not show you the same generous considerations if you do business together today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
Your goals can be achieved today if you can keep partners and associates out of your path. Act first, then tell others about it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
Co-workers will get a trifle miffed with you today if you shirk responsibilities or pick the easy job for yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
Be cautious and prudent in any commercial dealings you have today. Taking a risk at this time could prove very costly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
Normally, when you make an important decision you'll stick by it. Today, you could easily be pressured into changing your mind.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
You're not likely to do things for others today unless there's something special in it for you. This could create friction with a friend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
You still don't have a firm handle on the management of your resources. You'll show a loss where you could have shown a gain.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
You'll get a bit annoyed today when you discover how unappreciative others are of what you went out of your way to do for them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
Today, you'll have the luck you're hoping for with plans today if you lay your cards on the table rather than try to play coy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
Don't take funds earmarked for the family budget and use them for something else today. They'll be needed most where they are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
One you'll be dealing with today won't be as optimistic about the outcome of an event as you are. You'll revise your plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
This will be a profitable day businesswise if you don't let matter get overcomplicated. Keep negotiations simple.

Your Birthday
Nov. 10, 1975

There will be some unusual developments this coming year. They'll have a favorable effect upon your work or career. Persons in key spots will take a special interest in you.

Name Jill Club Officers

Dr. Lester Coleman

The cochlea is a small, snail-like, winding "shell" which lies in the inner ear. Defects in the cochlea are responsible for the nerve deafness type of impaired hearing for which so little has been effective.

Now, a new computerized electronic device can be implanted into the cochlea with hope that totally deaf persons may hear and understand normal speech.

At the University of Utah, Dr. M. G. Mladetinsky and Dr. William H. Doherty believe that by stimulating the brain with these implants "artificial" hearing can be obtained.

The original early research in this area is now being advanced so that many sounds of different pitches will be understood by the deaf person.

Nerve deafness, up to now, has resisted the scientific investigations that have been so beneficial to persons afflicted with the major cause of deafness, namely, "conductive" hearing loss.

Patients with stomach ulcers have themselves noted that frequent meals tend to reduce painful symptoms.

An interesting study by Dr. Robert L. Blalock, of Tampa, Fla., scientifically proved that patients with stomach ulcers and duodenal ulcers were benefited when they were treated with six small meals a day.

Dr. Blalock and his colleagues at the University of South

Florida, and the Tampa Veterans Administration Hospital, are enthusiastic about the program of small meals at frequent intervals. This regime, in conjunction with a carefully chosen diet and medication, may reduce the marked discomfort and incapacitation caused by ulcer attacks.

Despite all warnings, many young people still are tempted to take LSD to experience a psychedelic "trip." Hospitals all over America painfully report the complications that may ensue.

Until these young adults can be taught the dangers of LSD, Dr. Edward W. Voss, Jr., at the University of Illinois has been working on a vaccine which will neutralize the dangerous effects of this hallucinatory drug.

Dr. Voss hopes that this preparation may, at least, spare the young person the mental complications and dangers of such an experiment.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers hopeful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Problem: I've done well financially. When my children were growing up I sent them to the best schools. The girls had beautiful weddings. Now, since they seem to have so little interest in me I feel like leaving my money to my stepchildren. My wife says it would cause a terrible row. What do you think? — Puzzled Dad

Dear Dad: Any family heirlooms should of course go to your children, but you don't owe them an inheritance. If you want to leave your money to your stepchildren because they treated you so well during your lifetime, go ahead and do it.

How young is too young for a child to learn about sex? That's just one thing you'll find in Ann Landers' new booklet, "How, What, and When to Tell Your Child About Sex." Dr. Lester Coleman

The cochlea is a small, snail-like, winding "shell" which lies in the inner ear. Defects in the cochlea are responsible for the nerve deafness type of impaired hearing for which so little has been effective.

Now, a new computerized electronic device can be implanted into the cochlea with hope that totally deaf persons may hear and understand normal speech.

At the University of Utah, Dr. M. G. Mladjevojsky and Dr. William H. Doherty believe that by stimulating the brain with these implants "artificial" hearing can be obtained.

The original early research in this area is now being advanced so that many sounds of different pitches will be understood by the deaf person.

Nerve deafness, up to now, has resisted the scientific investigations that have been so beneficial to persons afflicted with the major cause of deafness, namely, "conductive" hearing loss.

Patients with stomach ulcers have themselves noted that frequent meals tend to reduce painful symptoms.

An interesting study by Dr. Robert L. Blalock, of Tampa, Fla., scientifically proved that patients with stomach ulcers and duodenal ulcers were benefited when they were treated with six small meals a day.

Dr. Blalock and his colleagues at the University of South

Florida, and the Tampa Veterans Administration Hospital, are enthusiastic about the program of small meals at frequent intervals. This regime, in conjunction with a carefully chosen diet and medication, may reduce the marked discomfort and incapacitation caused by ulcer attacks.

Despite all warnings, many young people still are tempted to take LSD to experience a psychedelic "trip." Hospitals all over America painfully report the complications that may ensue.

Until these young adults can be taught the dangers of LSD, Dr. Edward W. Voss, Jr. at the University of Illinois has been working on a vaccine which will neutralize the dangerous effects of this hallucinatory drug.

Dr. Voss hopes that this preparation may, at least, spare the young person the mental complications and dangers of such an experiment.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "Alcoholism — A Family Disease." It probes this grave problem and offers helpful advice. For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. Coleman, M.D., (Alcoholism booklet), P.O. Box 5178, Grand Central Station, New York City 10017. Please mention the booklet by title.

The Professor looked over the dummy for a few moments, spread his hand and remarked, "I'm glad I cheated a point and opened a 20-point notrump. If either diamonds or clubs break three-two I have thirteen top tricks. If neither suit breaks, I can make my grand slam on a squeeze which I can develop against any and all distributions."

The Professor won the club in his own hand, led a second club to dummy, noted that clubs had not broken and proceeded to cash dummy's king of diamonds and his own queen, to note that East held a diamond stopper.

He cashed dummy's last club honor and his own last diamond honor and his three high hearts, while discarding the last club and last diamond from dummy.

Everyone was down to four cards. West had to keep the high club, East the high diamond. Neither one could guard spades, so all the spades were good.

You readers can get considerable fun out of seeing how the hand makes if West stops both minor suits, and if East holds the club stopper instead of West.

ASK THE JACOBY'S

A reader from Maine wants to know if it is unethical to think a long time and then bid or pass.

The answer is that slow bids and slow passes should be avoided as much as possible because they put a burden on your partner.

He is supposed to make his next call without paying attention to the fact that you had a problem. If he does take advantage of your hesitation he is being unethical.

A tip about floors from the professional chefs: Install wood. Restaurant cooks work on wooden slabs to lessen the all-day strain on feet, legs and back.

FOR SUNDAY
NOV. 9, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't try to dominate center stage in your peer group today. If you do, the notices you get from your friends won't be "raves."

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unfortunately, you won't be sufficiently relaxed today to enjoy some light-hearted pursuits. You need to take time to smell the roses.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Keep your counsel today unless it is specifically requested. Otherwise, you could be embarrassed when told to mind your own business.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You may feel that the assets of a close associate are partly yours. Avoid this erroneous impression. He may feel otherwise, and so advise you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You and your mate may not see eye-to-eye on things early in the day. It would be extremely unwise to let little disagreements mar your whole weekend.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You could be a little grumpy about any work you have to do today. There's no problem unless you're working with tools. Be careful!

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Being too generous could be your fault today. Money flows easily through your fingers. You're mourn for your ruined budget!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) There are enough problems at home without adding those of an outsider to the pile. Avoid creating new dilemmas for the family.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today, you tend to overlook the doughnut and see only the hole. You indulge in an unusual spell of pessimism.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Everyone you meet seems to have his hand out today. You're not obligated to give unless you sincerely feel you should.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You won't have faith in plans unless they are of your making. This is fine, but being too outspoken about it may alienate others.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It may be a little hard for you to crawl out of your shell today. Force yourself to get moving. Later, you'll be glad you did.

Nov. 9, 1975
You will form a unique and secretive alliance this coming year. You will be the "front man", but the money and power sources will be hidden from others.

For Monday,
Nov. 10, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) One friendly with you socially will not show you the same generous considerations if you do business together today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your goals can be achieved today if you can keep partners and associates out of your path. Act first, then tell others about it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Co-workers will get a trifle miffed with you today if you shirk responsibilities or pick the easy job for yourself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be cautious and prudent in any commercial dealings you have today. Taking a risk at this time could prove very costly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Normally, when you make an important decision you'll stick by it. Today, you could easily be pressured into changing your mind.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You're not likely to do things for others today unless there's something special in it for you. This could create friction with a friend.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You still don't have a firm handle on the management of your resources. You'll show a loss where you could have shown a gain.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You'll get a bit annoyed today when you discover how unappreciative others are of what you went out of your way to do for them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll have the luck you're hoping for with plans today if you lay your cards on the table rather than try to play coy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't take funds earmarked for the family budget and use them for something else today. They'll be needed most where they are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) One you'll be dealing with today won't be as optimistic about the outcome of an event as you are. You'll revise your plans.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) This will be a profitable day businesswise if you don't let matter get overcomplicated. Keep negotiations simple.

Nov. 10, 1975
There will be some unusual developments this coming year. They'll have a favorable effect upon your work or career. Persons in key spots will take a special interest in you.

Dutch Industrialist Free After 36 Days As Hostage

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema, smiling after 36 days of captivity in a "filthy hellhole," held up a .38-caliber bullet today and said, "the terrorists gave me this as a souvenir."

Looking undaunted, Herrema, 53, spoke to newsmen several hours after he was released unharmed except for a broken tooth by two Irish Republican Army kidnapers Friday night. Medical examiners said he was "in very good health."

After a brief medical exam, Herrema ate, bathed and slept for five hours before meeting with reporters.

Herrema was abducted Oct. 3 as he drove to work in Limerick, where he heads the Dutch-owned Ferrel steel plant. His release followed a day of negotiations between police and his kidnapers, Eddie Gallagher, 28, and Marian Coyle, 18.

"We are ready to come down — here are our guns," one shouted from the second-floor bedroom where they had been holding Herrema under a police siege since 300 police stormed the house at Monasterevin, 40 miles from here, 18 days ago.

Police said the kidnapers tossed three pistols out the window, released Herrema and emerged 10 minutes later.

Gallagher, unshaven and pale, waved a fist as he emerged from the house. Miss Coyle appeared pale and drawn. They were driven to Bridewell prison in Dublin.

A government spokesman said no concessions had been made to the kidnapers.

"Obviously, Dr. Herrema's captives were very weary and realized there was nothing to be gained from going on with it," he said.

The kidnapers originally demanded the release of three fellow IRA members from Irish jails, including Bridget Rose Dugdale, Gallagher's reputed common-law wife and mother of his child, and had threatened to kill Herrema. The IRA wants to oust Britain from Northern Ireland and unite it with the Republic of Ireland.

'Troubled' Patty Declared Competent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst, who once said she was nearly driven mad by her terrorist captors, is "clearly a troubled young woman," a judge says, but not too troubled to stand trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter declared the 21-year-old newspaper heiress mentally competent Friday to stand trial on charges of taking part in an armed bank robbery with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

But more legal wrangling was expected before the first juror is chosen.

Miss Hearst's defense lawyers want to obtain private psychotherapy for her before she is tried, and the judge also urged such treatment. But he refused to release her from jail for that purpose, noting that he earlier gave the defense permission to bring a doctor to her at the San Mateo County Jail.

"Our problem is that all the psychiatrists with whom we had contact did not feel she could be given that care in the jail environment," said Albert Johnson, one of her attorneys.

Johnson and his partner, F. Lee Bailey, have urged Miss Hearst's transfer to a private mental hospital, an issue which could be raised again at a plea hearing Monday.

But the judge said in his ruling that he found no evidence that Miss Hearst is suffering from "psychosis or other serious mental disease or defect." He said the reports of four experts who examined her convinced him she was perfectly able to aid in her own defense.

'Squeaky': Manson Main Issue In Case

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme, banished from the courtroom for disruptions which included an attempt to plead guilty, says the main issue of her case is convicted mass murderer Charles Manson.

But her attorney is concentrating on how she acted during and after an alleged attempt to kill President Ford.

After Miss Fromme was removed from court for the second time Friday, her standby defense lawyer, John Virga, started wrangling with Secret Service agent Larry Buendorf over Miss Fromme's tone of voice.

Virga was fired by Miss Fromme earlier this week but was ordered by U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride on Friday to handle the rest of Miss Fromme's defense. MacBride told Miss Fromme he would not allow her to act as her own attorney for the rest of the trial. Virga objected to Buendorf's saying Miss Fromme spoke "in disbelief" when she cried, "It didn't go off. It didn't go off."

Buendorf said she shouted the words after he grabbed a .45-caliber pistol she was raising less than two feet from the President in a park outside the state Capitol Sept. 5.

He did not identify the 27-year-old defendant by name, but answered questions during cross-examination in which her name was used. Virga said Buendorf was only speculating in saying Miss Fromme cried out in disbelief. But MacBride called it a legitimate observation.

Buendorf also said Miss Fromme jerked her hand back — either to resist him or to fire — when he grabbed the gun. But he admitted he didn't know whether her finger was on the trigger. Virga also pressed Buendorf on the height and direction of the gun when he grabbed it.

'Troubled' Patty Declared Competent

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst, who once said she was nearly driven mad by her terrorist captors, is "clearly a troubled young woman," a judge says, but not too troubled to stand trial.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter declared the 21-year-old newspaper heiress mentally competent Friday to stand trial on charges of taking part in an armed bank robbery with the Symbionese Liberation Army.

But more legal wrangling was expected before the first juror is chosen.

Miss Hearst's defense lawyers want to obtain private psychotherapy for her before she is tried, and the judge also urged such treatment. But he refused to release her from jail for that purpose, noting that he earlier gave the defense permission to bring a doctor to her at the San Mateo County Jail.

"Our problem is that all the psychiatrists with whom we had contact did not feel she could be given that care in the jail environment," said Albert Johnson, one of her attorneys.

Johnson and his partner, F. Lee Bailey, have urged Miss Hearst's transfer to a private mental hospital, an issue which could be raised again at a plea hearing Monday.

But the judge said in his ruling that he found no evidence that Miss Hearst is suffering from "psychosis or other serious mental disease or defect." He said the reports of four experts who examined her convinced him she was perfectly able to aid in her own defense.

New Government Job? Not Interested, Says Connally

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — John Connally, ex-Treasury Secretary and adviser to former President Nixon, said Friday he neither expects nor wants another role in federal government.

JOHN CONNALLY
Full of advice

At a news conference prior to attending an Ingham County Republican fundraiser in President Ford's home state, Connally said he is having too much fun giving advice on the lecture circuit to re-enter government.

Asked if he saw a role for himself as an ambassador, a cabinet member or anywhere in federal government, Connally replied, "No."

He refused to speculate on a run for office for President Ford, but said, "I don't want to be vice president ... I don't think I'd be asked. If asked, I would try to think of a way to get out of it."

He said his troubles with a federal bribery indictment had nothing to do with his desire to stay out of federal service. He was acquitted of the bribery charges.

Connally, a former Texas governor, predicted President Ford would head the Republican ticket next year after being forced into a "vigorous" primary campaign against former California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The Democratic presidential candidate will be Edward Kennedy, despite Kennedy's insistence he does not want the office, said Connally.

Connally said his foreseeable plans involve speaking out on vital national issues as a private citizen.

"I always envied guys who went around giving advice and not having to do anything," he joked, describing his lecture tour through the Midwest. "Now I'm an expert."

Delay Sought In Moore Trial

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sara Jane Moore's attorneys have renewed their request that her Dec. 15 trial date be set aside until her mental competency has been established.

Mrs. Moore, accused of attempting to assassinate President Ford in San Francisco last September, has been undergoing court-ordered psychiatric evaluation.

Lawyers Advise Killing Cattle

By PETE YOST
Associated Press Writer

Two Michigan attorneys are advising their clients to begin killing 6,000 sick dairy cows that the lawyers contend were poisoned two years ago by contaminated cattle feed.

The attorneys, Gary Schenk of Grand Rapids and Paul Greer of Fremont, said Friday the two companies involved in the feed mix-up have refused for the past two years to reimburse the farmers for the animals.

Schenk and Greer said the animals are "dangerous" and would be harmful to the consuming public if sold in the marketplace. Rather than risk poisoning the public, the two attorneys said their clients have insisted the animals be killed.

Schenk and Greer have filed suit against the two companies involved in the mix-up — the Michigan Chemical Co. and Michigan Farm Bureau Services Inc. — and are seeking several million dollars in damages on behalf of 55 of their clients, claiming the animals are sick and dying because they ate the contaminated feed.

But the two companies involved in what has been described as the nation's worst livestock poisoning say the amount of poison in the animals' systems is too low to have adverse effects.

The state and the federal governments have not become involved in quarantining animals where the level of contamination by polychlorinated biphenyl (PCB) falls below standards set by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration. PCB is a chemical fire-retardant.

Veterinarians from the state Agriculture Department have been unable to pinpoint PCB as the cause of illnesses among the 6,000 livestock, said George Whitehead, head of the agency's consumer protection division.

"If we could prove PCB was the cause, we would seek a change in the tolerance level and quarantine the herds in a minute," Whitehead said Friday.

Schenk and Greer said the state has refused to allow their clients to use a burial site in Kalamazoo County where some 22,500 other cattle poisoned in the feed contamination disaster were dumped.

"Our people are running out of money," Schenk said. "They can't afford to keep these animals alive when they are not producing. We have advised them that to solve the problem they should start burying them on the farms."

Schenk said the burial will start next week when dairyman Al Green of Chase will slaughter his sick herd.

The 6,000 cows have traces of PCB in their bloodstreams and fat tissue. But since the amounts of the chemical in the animals' systems are below tolerance levels set by the FDA, the animals legally can be sold for human consumption in the marketplace.

Hundreds of dairy herds with high contamination levels have been quarantined by the state. Owners of those herds have won insurance settlements from firms covering the chemical company, which manufactures PCB, and Farm Bureau Services, which accidentally mixed PCB with cattle feed.

"I haven't heard anybody from the state, the farm bureau or the chemical company tell me these animals aren't sick from PCB," said Greer. "But they won't admit it. The state is permitted to regret the day it permitted these animals to be sold."

MRS. JUNE FIELDS Woman Executive Promoted At LMC

Mrs. June Fields has been promoted to the new position of executive secretary to the president of Lake Michigan College.

Mrs. Fields has served as secretary in the office of the president, Dr. James L. Lehman, since 1970. The promotion will entail increased responsibilities and activities of an executive nature.

In addition to her duties in the president's office, Mrs. Fields will continue to serve as recording secretary for Lake Michigan College board of trustees meetings.

Mrs. Fields was graduated from the College of Commerce, South Bend, Ind., and also attended Michigan State University. Before joining the LMC secretarial staff, Mrs. Fields for eight years served as secretary to the editor of Water and Sewage Works magazine, for three years as a secretary at MSU, and for seven years as secretary to the sales promotion and advertising manager of Tyler Refrigeration Corp. in Niles.

Two days later, when the 18-year-old cavalry scout ran out of C rations, a friendly German farmer began delivering sandwiches and coffee to his lonely post.

A week passed, and still the Greenwich, N.Y., soldier guarded the intersection in the village of Burgloss, sleeping in the farmer's barn at night and waiting for his unit to return. It never did.

Instead, nine days after he began the lonely vigil, Army military police raced up and arrested Perry for being AWOL — absent from his unit without permission.

"They handcuffed me and put me in the back of the jeep, which surprised the farmer and his family," Perry told the armed forces newspaper, Stars and Stripes.

The handcuffs were taken off after the MPs contacted his unit and learned that Perry had only been following orders.

The soldier's ordeal started Oct. 16 during the annual U.S. military maneuver in southern Germany. His scout section was ordered to move out and he was left behind with two soldiers from another unit to guard simulated explosives at the intersection.

Motorist Hurt As Car Hits Tree

LAWTON — A Portage, Mich., man was seriously injured here early this morning when the car he was driving ran off the road and struck a tree about 1 a.m., according to state police at Paw Paw.

Troopers identified the man as Jack T. Hite, 43, Portage. He was listed in poor condition this morning with head injuries by officials at Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

Troopers said Hite was travelling north on 29th street when he apparently lost control of his car, skidded off the road and slammed into the tree. He was alone at the time, troopers said.

Treasure Hunters Bomb Out

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — Treasure hunters spurred by a previous discovery of cash have ransacked the home of the late Horace Ball but failed to unearth further hidden riches.

In a search that began Friday and continues today, they found coat hangers, rusty nails, stray pieces of metal, an old stump, a garden cache of okra and other delights and a newspaper proclaiming the surrender of Germany.

"I know definitely that there is money here somewhere," said one searcher. "He's told me that it's hidden here. There's plenty more than what they found."

Most of the searchers were relatives of Ball and his wife, Norma, murdered in their home last September by unknown assailants.

Police speculated at the time that the slayings were motivated in part by rumors that Ball and his wife kept large sums of money on his property, which included an used furniture store.

County Judge Calvin Ashley allowed the search after the recent discovery of $12,340 in a purse in one of the Ball's old warehouses.

South Haven Firemen Injured

SOUTH HAVEN — Two South Haven firemen were injured while extinguishing a fire that caused $13,000 damage to the Betty Hale residence, 220 Oak street, early today.

Assistant Chief Oliver Morehead was released after treatment at South Haven Community hospital for a back injury suffered as he attempted to open a rear door while Lt. Robert Tromotola was treated at the scene for a cut left wrist.

The 2:10 a.m. blaze started in the furnace room and spread through the walls to the second floor, according to firemen. The occupants escaped without injury.

Gandhi's Backers Jubilant

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's ruling Congress party declared its "unswerving support" today to Prime Minister Indira Gandhi in a fresh demonstration of loyalty following the supreme court's reversal of her electoral malpractices conviction.

"It is a day of rejoicing as the leader of the nation stands vindicated," more than 300 cheering Congress party members of Parliament said in a resolution adopted by acclamation.

The parliamentarians, who as members of the majority party have the power to choose the country's prime minister, met in a relaxed, joyous mood, with individual members reciting poems and singing songs praising Mrs. Gandhi.

The mood contrasted with the subdued atmosphere of their last meeting June 18, six days after a court in Mrs. Gandhi's home city of Allahabad found her guilty of illegally using government officials to help her win her 1971 election to Parliament.

Minor Fires Extinguished In BH And Benton

Benton township firemen at 7:24 a.m. today, extinguished a blaze from an oil space heater in a home occupied by Fred Radde, 2076 Territorial road. Damage was reported as minor.

Benton Harbor firemen at 8:03 p.m. Friday, extinguished a small leaf fire in Hall park. No damage resulted, firemen said.

"A sergeant from their unit came by and picked them up and told me to stay where I was because my unit would pick me up," Perry said. "I had some C rations and when they were gone I got more from units that were still in the area. Then they left and I ate apples."

The farmer began feeding the soldier when it became obvious he was in for a long wait.

"He told me I could stay in the hayloft over a garage so I could keep warm," the young soldier.

Perry said he stopped several Army trucks that passed his intersection and asked to be taken to his unit, "but they were all going the wrong way."

Second Lt. Charles J. Barr, Perry's platoon leader, said the soldier was reported missing after two days, and his first sergeant went back to the intersection to look for him.

"Perry may have been in the barn at the time," Barr said. "I was returning to look for him Oct. 25 when I received the call from the MPs. We were glad to get that call and learn that Perry was all right."

Since the soldier's return, authorities visited the German family to thank them for caring for him. They gave the family flowers and $80 to pay for the food.

Perry's unit, the 2nd Squadron, 2nd Armored Cavalry Regiment, also wrote a letter of thanks to the family.

CIA Reveals Drug Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The CIA says it secretly funded more than 30 universities and institutions that conducted experiments with LSD and other drugs during the 1950s and '60s. At one of the institutions, drug addicts undergoing rehabilitation were given doses of their preferred narcotics as a reward for participating in the CIA-funded experiments, according to sworn testimony before a Senate subcommittee Friday. Inmates at the National Institute of Mental Health's Addiction Research Center in Lexington, Ky., were given their choice of drugs or time off their sentences, one former inmate explained. But since the inmates were all drug addicts "the majority chose narcotics," said Edward M. Flowers, now a drug counselor.

Woman Marine Takes Discharge

YUMA, Ariz. (AP) — Marine 2nd Lt. Mary Niflis is being discharged rather than face a court-martial for allegedly having sexual relations with six enlisted men. But the 23-year-old woman's mother says she still wants to see a congressional investigation of the Marine Corps' treatment of her daughter. Lt. Niflis's mother, Jean Rickard of Southbury, Conn., called for the congressional investigation after it was announced Friday that the secretary of the Navy had accepted her daughter's resignation and that she would be given an honorable discharge.

RHUBARB

Old clumps of rhubarb can be divided now or early in the spring. Dividing can be done with a knife. Cut the crown in half as a starter, then cut pieces with one strong bud and a 4 to 6-inch fleshy root.

A large old crown will probably provide a dozen or more divisions. Plant the divisions on the edge of the garden or in a spot where it will not be disturbed. The bud should be at ground level. Rhubarb responds well to fertilizer, manure, and moisture.

LAWNS

The best cutting height for most Kentucky bluegrass and fine-leaved fescue varieties is 1 1/2 to 2 inches. Height of cut should not be altered in late fall. Permitting the grass to grow excessively high will result in increased snow mold disease problems, while short mowing will increase the chance of winter injury. Ask for Extension Bulletin E646 on Lawn Care at the Cooperative Extension service office in the courthouse, St. Joseph.

EITHER ENTRANCE: To this outstanding home leads to good living comfort. Drive into the garage and walk through a protected breezeway to the kitchen. Here's a well-planned work center with bonus feature in the form of a large breakfast nook, plus storage cabinets. Near the kitchen is an extra lavatory and stairs to the basement. If you entertain informally, a guest can leave wraps in the vestibule closet and go downstairs to a large recreation room. The living-dining room is an L with fireplace. Plan HA904G has 1,330 square feet and was designed by Carl Gaiser, 25600 Telegraph road, Southfield, Michigan. 48075. Queries should be addressed to Gaiser, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

RHUBARB

Old clumps of rhubarb can be divided now or early in the spring. Dividing can be done with a knife. Cut the crown in half as a starter, then cut pieces with one strong bud and a 4 to 6-inch fleshy root.

A large old crown will probably provide a dozen or more divisions. Plant the divisions on the edge of the garden or in a spot where it will not be disturbed. The bud should be at ground level. Rhubarb responds well to fertilizer, manure, and moisture.

LAWNS

The best cutting height for most Kentucky bluegrass and fine-leaved fescue varieties is 1½ to 2 inches. Height of cut should not be altered in late fall. Permitting the grass to grow excessively high will result in increased snow mold disease problems, while short mowing will increase the chance of winter injury. Ask for Extension Bulletin E646 on Lawn Care at the Cooperative Extension service office in the courthouse, St. Joseph.

victed in the burglary of the Adrian jewelry store in 1969. He was released on $15,000 bond and reportedly became frantic when it appeared he would have to serve a 7-to-10 year prison term.

Trial testimony showed

Whalen talked to Wish, who said he knew "The Man" on the Michigan Supreme Court and that a new trial could be obtained for a $30,000 payment.

Whalen then went to the FBI and told them of the alleged bribery scheme. Contacts between Wish and Whalen, and meetings between Wish and Swainson, were watched by the FBI, trial testimony showed.

Swainson denied he ever took a cent of bribe money and also said he never tried to influence his colleagues on the high court in getting a new trial for Whalen.

The Supreme Court granted a new trial for the convicted burglar in December 1973. Whalen was convicted again and is out on bond.

Davis asked the legislative services bureau to draft a resolution calling for Swainson's resignation.

Cawthorne said he was prepared to move for Swainson's ouster if Swainson did not resign or if the Judicial Tenure Commission did not get involved.

State Bar President George Bushnell called for Swainson to resign immediately after his perjury conviction.

Local Bar association chapters, however, were split on the question of whether Swainson should resign.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davidson, said the legislature should stay out of the Swainson resignation question.

HARTFORD SCHOOLS

Judge Adjourns Tenure Suit Trial

PAW PAW — Van Buren Circuit Court Judge David Anderson Jr. adjourned yesterday the lawsuit trial of two former Hartford school teachers trying to regain their teaching jobs.

Anderson said lawyers for the teachers, Joel Kooyers, Three Rivers, and John McLellan, Hartford, will now have 15 days to file written arguments, and then attorneys for the Hartford schools will have 15 days after that in which to respond.

Kooyers and McLellan claim in their suit that the school violated the state teacher tenure act in failing to rehire them last June for this school year.

They specifically allege in the suit that the board failed to make a determination that work of the teachers was unsatisfactory, and that the school board failed to present them with a written statement to that effect, as required by law.

Supt. Gary Waterkamp testified yesterday that the board reached a decision not to grant the pair tenure during an executive session last March 11, and that he sent them letters notifying them of this March 11.

According to minutes of the school board accepted into evidence yesterday, the board re-convened after the executive session and voted not to grant Kooyers and McLellan tenure. 1973 to 1975 and McLellan from 1972 to 1975, according to the suit.

Both are seeking re-instatement as tenured teachers, plus compensation for lost pay and attorney's fees.

SJ Dystrophy March Leader Is Announced

St. Joseph Fire Chief William Moore announced that Capt. Terry McNeil will head the St. Joseph march for muscular dystrophy.

McNeil said letters were mailed to St. Joseph businesses asking their continued support of the dystrophy effort. Canisters will also be placed at a number of locations in the city. However, the in effort in the drive will be the annual house-to-house canvass.

McNeil said St. Joseph has consistently collected more for dystrophy than any other fire department in southwestern Michigan. They have collected a total of $82,616.71 since the first drive in 1951. McNeil said he hoped St. Joseph residents and businesses would continue such support.

Bank Takes Tax Payment Out Of Child's Savings

LIVERMORE, Calif. (AP) —

Rodney Smith says he couldn't believe it when his bank deducted $28.71 from his savings account to help pay his parents' back taxes.

"I just started crying as soon as I heard about it," the 14-year-old Rodney said Friday. "They didn't even notify us or we'd have come up with the money some other way."

Equally upset was Rodney's mother, Sharon Smith, whose protests have persuaded officials to refund the money.

"I think it was a lousy, rotten thing to do, taking a child's money like that," said Mrs. Smith, 31, who also has a daughter, Leann. "He's a very good little boy and I hate to have him get a bad opinion of this country that we live in."

She said Rodney, who's saving his money to buy a pickup truck, "worked so hard to earn the money, hauling hay and working cattle on his uncle's ranch."

Rodney's problems started in 1974 when the California Franchise Tax Board was unable to collect $67.79 in delinquent taxes owed from a joint return his parents filed in 1972, the year before they got a divorce. Both parents have been out of work a lot and said they were unable to pay.

So the tax board instructed the Wells Fargo Bank branch in Livermore to deduct the funds from Mrs. Smith's savings account. But after the bank took her entire savings of $46.48, the state still came up $21.31 short.

"Following religiously our instructions from the tax board, we took the rest of the money out of the account for which Rodney is a beneficiary and his mother the trustee," explained bank manager Earl Duarte.

So Rodney got a bank notice that his $141 account had shrunk by $21.31, plus a $7.50 bank processing fee.

"We didn't consider it his money as he didn't have control of the account," Duarte said.

But the tax board decided it didn't agree with this philosophy — ESPECIALLY AFTER Mrs. Smith brought the matter to the attention of a local newspaper.

"It's a clear case that the son has a right to have his money returned," tax board spokesman Bob McConnell said in Sacramento. "We are glad to be able to refund it."

McConnell said a check for $28.81 would be mailed to Rodney next week and that the board hoped to settle the outstanding tax debt by helping Mrs. Smith file an amended return for 1974 that would give her a bigger refund.

"We're very proud people, but we decided to tell the newspaper so this wouldn't happen to other children," said Mrs. Smith.

Court Says Pleas Are Valid Despite Judicial Errors

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has ruled that pleas of guilty or no contest can be valid even if the sentencing judge did not strictly follow court rules in accepting them.

The decision modified earlier rulings that requirements must be followed to the letter or the pleas might be overturned, a court spokesman said.

The Supreme Court said Friday noncompliance with rules on pleas of guilty and no contest do not necessarily require reversal.

But the court upheld the strict requirement that a judge must advise defendants that, through their pleas, they forfeit a number of constitutional rights. Those include the right to jury trial, to confront accusers and to remain silent.

Failure to inform defendants of such rights is grounds for reversal, the high court said.

The Supreme Court issued its memorandum opinion after hearing oral arguments in 24 of 114 guilty plea cases that were pending in the Court of Appeals. Defense attorneys claimed their clients' guilty pleas should be reversed because they were made under defective circumstances.

The high court affirmed 18 convictions, reversed and remanded one conviction for trial, and remanded five convictions to the trial courts for further proceedings to determine if the guilty plea record can be corrected.

The court said it expects many of the remaining 90 cases can be decided on the basis of the memorandum opinion.

An incorrect statement of the charged offense does not require reversal where it is apparent on the record that it did not mislead the defendant, the high court said.

A judge's failure to advise the defendant of the probation or parole consequences of a charge "is not significant where the defendant acknowledged on the record that he was not on probation or parole," the high court said.

Failure of plea bargaining to be stated on the record, or cases in which an element of the crime was not established on the record, may be corrected on remand and need not necessarily be reversed, the Supreme Court said.

Rules do not require a judge to determine that the plea is "freely, understandingly and voluntarily made" in any particular manner, the high court said. The judge's acceptance of the plea assumes it was made under those circumstances, the court added.

The rule for accepting a no contest plea requires the judge state reasons "for believing that the interests of the defendant and the proper administration of justice do not require interrogation of the defendant regarding his participation in the crime," the Supreme Court said.

The rules also require "substantial support" for a finding that the defendant is guilty, the high court said.

As for informing defendants of their rights, the Supreme Court said literal compliance with particular wording is not required "so long as the central purpose of the rule is achieved."

The heart of the issue is whether the defendant "understood what a trial is and that by pleading guilty, he was knowingly and voluntarily giving up his right to a trial and such rights..." the Supreme Court said.

Justice G. Mennen Williams dissented in part, arguing that failure to inform the defendant of any rights specified in the rule must constitute reversible error. Williams also said he would reverse certain cases because the sentence consequences "were not stated clearly."

St. Joseph's hopes of upending seventh-ranked and unbeaten Grand Rapids Union were dashed by injuries, a pass interception and a penalty Friday night at Dickinson Stadium.

Coach Ike Muhlenkamp's proud Bears lost the non-conference season finale 14-6 while playing without their leading rusher for the full game and the top pass receiver much of the second half.

St. Joe still gave Union its closest call of the season and possibly could have pulled off a giant-sized upset without their pair of second half miscues.

But Union's offense was awesome at times and certainly explosive behind the running of tailback Tony Townsend and fullback Dan Hornbarger and the passing of quarterback Jack Peterson.

Union outgained St. Joe 300 yards to 142 overall with Townsend and Hornbarger rushing for 154 and 101 yards, respectively, while carrying the ball just 17 times apiece.

Peterson added 63 yards passing on four completions in eight attempts as Union busted six gainers overall of 20 yards or more. St. Joe had only one play of more than 20 yards, and that came on the last series of the game.

Townsend scored on a 79-yard scamper in the first quarter, and Hornbarger added the clincher on a 21-yard TD dash in the fourth period. St. Joe's touchdown came in the first quarter on a two-yard quarterback

St. Joe was without fullback Scott Wolff, who was averaging

5.1 yards per carry but was sidelined Friday night with a back injury. The Bears also lost their leading receiver, split end Ted Dongvillo, with an ankle sprain in the second half.

Tailback Dave Tibbitts was the leading St. Joseph rusher Friday night with 50 yards in 12 carries. Ziebart also completed seven of 19 passes for 59 yards, including three catches by Dongvillo for 35 yards.

Ziebart had one pass intercepted, but it was a costly one. It came when St. Joe was driving for the possible go-ahead touchdown on the opening series of the second half.

The Bears had a second and one at Union 26 when they tried for the big play — a pass to Dongvillo. But the ball slipped off his hands and was intercepted by Union's Bob Gingrich.

"We went for broke...I didn't plan on the interception," declared Muhlenkamp afterward. He had said before the game that the Bears were going to have to gamble to pull off an upset.

Union coach Jake Ciccone also thought the pass interception was a big key to the outcome. "I was sure they were going to march right down and score," he commented.

St. Joe's second costly miscue came late in the third period. Union fumbled the ball away at their own 32, but the turnover was nullified when St. Joe was caught with too many players on the field.

Union also had other scoring threats. A second quarter TD was erased by an offside penalty, a great St. Joe goal line stand turned aside a fourth quarter threat when Union had a first down at the Bear five and Union fumbled the ball away late in the game at St. Joe's 14.

Fumbles set up a touchdown for each squad. St. Joe went 25 yards for its TD after a recovery by linebacker Rick Dyer and Union's last TD came after the Bears fumbled the ball away at their own 26.

Union fumbled six times overall, leading Muhlenkamp to comment: "That's the best they've been hit all year." Muhlenkamp was proud of his Bears in the heart-breaking loss and overall 5-4 season which included a share of the Big Seven championship.

"I'm very happy with our season," he explained. "The kids were small in stature but had very big hearts." Union finished its regular season at 10-0 and is awaiting the results of games tonight to see if they qualify for the Class A playoffs.

St. Joe seniors in their last game Friday night were Ziebart, Tibbitts, Wolff, Don Silverthorn, Jay Caravino, Paul Clements, Steve Priebe, Jim Burkett, Glenn Averill, Dyer, Dick Goodman, Leo Piekar, Charles Putnam, Doug Mikkelsen, Mike Williamson, Jeff Schmal, Bruce Ward, John Sykora, Steve Toney, Mark Laulus, John Donahue, Jeff Johnson and Kevin Gast.

Barchett, who praised his entire defense, also lauded the jobs turned in by coaching assistants Ken Marzka, Al Avery and Dave Vitek.

Coloma finishes the year at 5-4 overall for its second straight winning season. Even with the loss the Comets still lead the neighborhood rivalry 30-17-3.

Watervliet, which blew two earlier chances at the Comet 10 (fumble) and 12 (run out of downs), finally deadlocked the game on Gargano's 22-yard punt to the right with 2:11 left in the half.

Hutchinson, who gained 105 of his 148 yards in the last half, busted through a mammoth hole over-right tackle for the go-ahead touchdown from 63 yards out at 8:52 of the third quarter.

WATERVLIET — What a way to go!

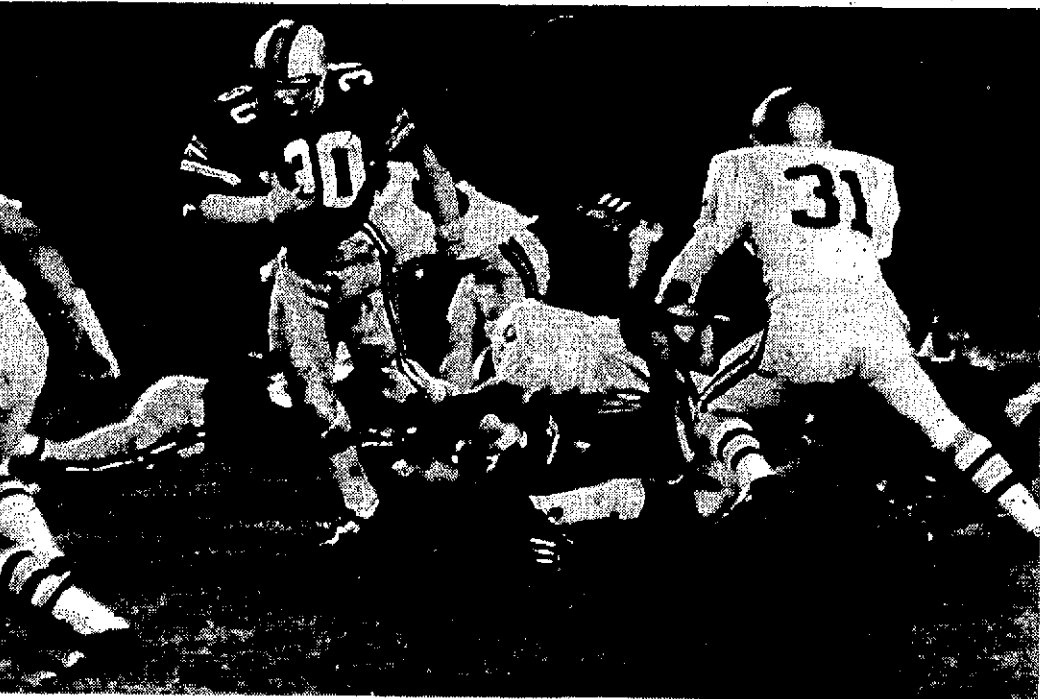

The mighty Watervliet Panthers capped a dazzling late season comeback in super fashion here Friday night by "grounding" arch-rival Coloma 22-6 in their traditional season-ending daylight before a packed crowd.

Jerry Barchett's gridders, who dropped two out of their first three games, wound up their season with six straight wins while outscoring their opponents by an unbelievable 100-24 margin.

"I just felt we improved every week," beamed Barchett in the Watervliet locker room following a dredding in the shower. "The way we ended up I would say this team ranks with the best teams we've had here since I've been here (14 years). This is a heck of a fine club. I don't think there's a better team in southwestern Michigan now...and I mean that."

The Panthers, who spotted Coloma a 6-0 lead, plowed the Comets under with an unrelenting ground attack with Tom Hutchinson and Frank Gargano the big horses.

Hutchinson, a junior upback, ruined the Comets with touchdown runs of 55 and 24 yards, two PAT runs and 148 yards in 16 carries. Gargano, a senior HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — Coach Tom Saylor called it a "community pride victory" and the traffic jam in tiny downtown Hudson clearly demonstrated that very thing.

"When we got back it took us an hour to get through traffic in town," Saylor said after his Hudson Tigers beat Hillsdale 24-6 Friday to tie the national record of 71 consecutive victories by a high school football team.

Jefferson City, Mo., set the mark from 1953-66. Earlier in the day Saylor got a telegram from Jefferson City Coach Pete Atkins wishing Hudson well. Among the fistful of other telegrams was one from Michigan Gov. William Milliken.

Trade To Rangers 'Shocks' Esposito

Scores Two In Loss To Seals

NEW YORK (AP) — There is always an extra jersey packed with the equipment of New York Rangers trainer Frank Peice, just in case the Rangers make a trade while the team is away from home.

He had to use that jersey Friday night for an unexpected new arrival: center Phil Esposito — modern hockey history's greatest goal scorer with 369 over the last six seasons.

Esposito added two goals to that mark during his debut in that extra jersey Friday night, but California's Gary Sabourin took a page out of his book by scoring four and carrying the young Seals to a 7-5 triumph over Esposito's Rangers.

Esposito's Rangers? Somehow that doesn't sound right just yet. The deal was as much a surprise to the 33-year-old center as it was to the fans who learned earlier that he and defenseman Carol Vadnais had joined New York in exchange for defenseman Brad Park and Joe Zamboni and center Jean Ratelle.

"When I first heard of it, I was in complete shock. I didn't know what to think," said Esposito before the game. "I'm still in a little bit of a daze, but maybe it's better to play right away so I don't have time to think about it."

Espo raised his career goal mark to 535 — third-highest in National Hockey League history — and added an assist in the losing performance.

"I was nervous. It was like being in my first NHL game. I had to keep asking the other guys where I was supposed to be," he said when it was over.

Sabourin raised his career total to 149, far behind his opponent, but it was enough to beat New York and goalie John Davidson, a former teammate on the St. Louis Blues.

Elsewhere in the NHL, Toronto and Kansas City skated to a 3-3 tie and Atlanta edged Minnesota 3-2.

But it was the deal that left hockey fans buzzing across the country — star Esposito for star Park. Switchboards lit up at New York's Madison Square Garden and the Bruins' Boston offices within minutes of the midday announcement.

"It's probably the biggest trade we've ever made," said Rangers General Manager Emile Francis, who closed the deal with Boston counterpart Harry Sinden late Thursday night. It was his club's fourth major transaction in the 10 days since a long-awaited shakeup began. "It was the most difficult decision I've ever had to reach in all my years here," added Sinden. "I've said it before and I say it again: Esposito is the greatest center who ever played the game."

Bill Fairbairn, Rick Middleton and Gilbert also scored for New York. Rick Hampton, Larry Patey and Rick Hampton had the other goals for California, which broke a six-game losing streak.

A 12-foot, third-period shot by center Tom Lysiak gave Atlanta its victory over Minnesota.

Muskegon Upsets Muskegon Catholic

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Fullback John Brown sprinted 83 yards for a touchdown Friday night moments after a fumble recovery and Muskegon handed archrival Muskegon Catholic a 12-0 high school football loss.

It was the first time the Crusaders, 7-2 and the top-ranked Class B team in the state, have been shutout in 25 games. Muskegon wound up with a 5-4 record.

Brian Clarke scored on a one-yard run in the first quarter soon after Muskegon recovered a Muskegon Catholic fumble. The Crusaders were marching towards a tie when, at the Muskegon one-yard line, they were penalized to the five. Then they lost another fumble and five plays later Brown raced for his game-clincher.

WATERVLIET — What a way to go!

The mighty Watervliet Panthers capped a dazzling late season comeback in super fashion here Friday night by "grounding" arch-rival Coloma 22-6 in their traditional season-ending dogfight before a packed crowd.

Jerry Barchett's gridders, who dropped two out of their first three games, wound up their season with six straight wins while outscoring their opponents by an unbelievable 160-24 margin.

tailback, scored the other Watervliet TD on a 22-yard scoot and added 104 yards in 25 totes as the Panthers gained all of their 276 yards on the ground.

"Hutchinson was just fantastic tonight," bubbled Barchett, who has guided Watervliet to 10 consecutive winning seasons. "Coloma had two people to stop our option and that sort of set up that off tackle play for Hutchinson...but Tom ran awfully well.

The tenacious Watervliet defense, which finished the best in the area for the third season in a row, stymied Coloma time after time in the second half, holding the Comets to 49 yards, while the Panther offense broke a 6-6 halftime tie thanks to Hutchinson's power running.

"We had a nice first half but we played poorly the second half," voiced Coloma coach Bob Irvin. "But you have to appreciate the Watervliet defense...they didn't give us a

"And I don't want to use those injuries as an excuse...they just outplayed us the second half. They have a nice football team and played a nice game. This Hutchinson really hurt us. We're disappointed but we'll be back again next year."

John Bertuca led the Comets with 75 yards in 14 carries despite limping from previous leg injuries. The outstanding tailback cracked the 1,000-yard rushing barrier for the second year in a row, ending with 1,029. Coloma played without injured fullback Jerry Gagliardo and most of the game without injured wing back John Mattson. Coloma struck first on a 22-yard burst by substitute tailback Tom Vandervort at 4:11 of the opening period. Sid Myrick's recovery of a fumbled punt by Watervliet set up the score.

Watervliet, which blew two earlier chances at the Comet 10 (fumble) and 12 (ran out of downs), finally deadlocked the game on Gargano's 22-yard jaunt to the right with 2:11 left in the half.

Hutchinson, who gained 105 of his 148 yards in the last half, busted through a mammoth hole over right tackle for the go-ahead touchdown from 55 yards out at 8:52 of the third quarter.

A bit of Watervliet trickery paved the way for the clinching score at 8:52 of the finale. With fourth and three at their own 48, the Panthers lined up to punt. But the ball went to Gargano, who slammed 16 yards for a first down. Two plays later Hutchinson broke over left tackle to pay dirt from 24 yards away.

"We just put that play in about three-four games ago but this is the first time we ever used it," noted Barchett of the fake punt.

Defensively, Gargano and Ken Marzka picked off Coloma passes to halt drives while the Comets' Dennis Ory and Shannon Doolen also had fumble recoveries in addition to Myrick.

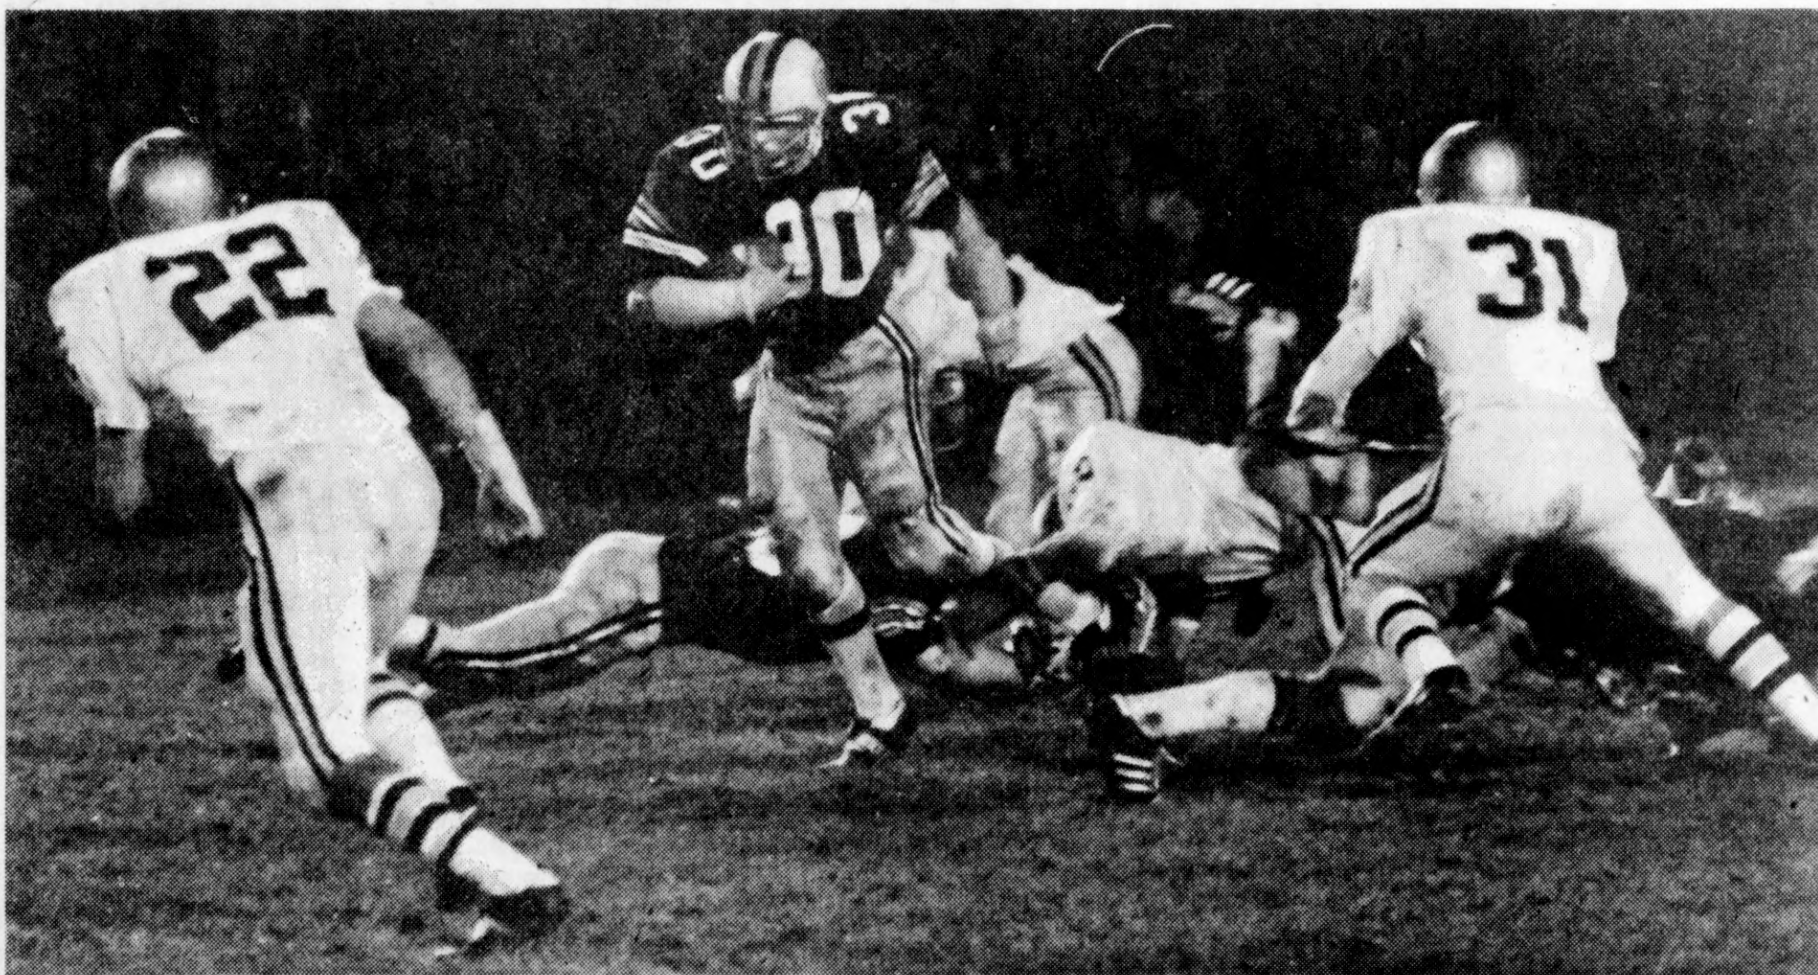

Gargano, like Bertuca, also hit 1,000 yards for the second straight year. He ends with 1,005.

Barchett, who praised his entire defense, also lauded the jobs turned in by coaching assistants Ken Marzka, Al Avery and Dave Vlek.

Coloma finishes the year at 5-4 overall for its second straight winning season. Even with the loss the Comets still lead the neighborhood rivalry 30-17-3.

Muskegon Upsets Muskegon Catholic

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP) — Fullback John Brown sprinted 83 yards for a touchdown Friday night moments after a fumble recovery and Muskegon handed archrival Muskegon Catholic a 12-0 high school football loss.

It was the first time the Crusaders, 7-2 and the top-ranked Class B team in the state, have been shutout in 25 games. Muskegon wound up with a 5-4 record.

Brian Clarke scored on a one-yard run in the first quarter soon after Muskegon recovered a Muskegon Catholic fumble. The Crusaders were marching towards a tie when, at the Muskegon one-yard line, they were penalized to the five. Then they lost another fumble and five plays later Brown raced for his game-clincher.

Galien, Luther Dash Lawrence's Playoff Hopes 30-14

SCHMALFELDT SCAMPER: Lawrence's Ron Schmalfeldt (42) finds momentary daylight during Friday's game with Galien while the Gaels' Bob DalPalo (46) and Bob Smith (60) are among those in hot pursuit. The Galien defense held Schmalfeldt to 60 yards in posting a 30-14 victory, ending the Tiger playoff hopes. The non-league encounter was played on the Lawrence gridiron. (Carl Hartman photo)

Gael QB Hits Eight Of 11 Passes, Scores TD

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

LAWRENCE — Dale Luther doesn't look like a quarterback at first glance. Once on a football field, one's opinion changes rapidly about the 5-9, 160-pounder, however.

All Luther did Friday night was complete eight of 11 passes for 130 yards, score one touchdown and pass for another to lead Galien to an easy 30-14 win over Lawrence before about 500 fans here.

The win was the fifth in a row for Galien. The Gaels outscored sociated with this group of kids," Hess said. "I'm extremely proud of the whole program. Virtually every school we play has double our enrollment. We have to ask more of our kids here than most coaches do because we are so small in numbers. Hopefully we can start getting the football tradition back here in Galien."

Galien shells shocked Lawrence on the opening kickoff and the Tigers never really got on track. Randy Chase took the kickoff at his own five yard line, broke a pair of tackles at the 25 and raced 95 yards down the middle of the field for a touchdown.

"After that kickoff return we just couldn't get it going," Tiger coach Jim Coady lamented. "We didn't get on track all night long. The kickoff return actually set the tempo of the game."

"Since the Marcellus game two weeks ago, we've been having trouble getting back up. We're a better football team than we showed against Galien, there's no question about that."

After the kickoff return, Galien's defense took over and forced Lawrence into five costly turnovers. The Gaels turned two into touchdowns.

"Our defense has dominated all year," Hess said. "It has bent but hasn't broken. I feel that you've got to win with defense."

"I just wish I could have three quarters back this season. The last quarter against Lake Michigan Catholic and the first half against Watervliet."

LMC scored 12 points in the fourth quarter to break open a close game in an 18-0 win. Watervliet tallied 22 points in the first half of its 30-0 victory.

Lawrence had averaged 211 yards rushing and 64 passing in its first seven games. The Gael defense held the Tigers to just 179 yards rushing, 89 of which came in the fourth quarter after the game was no longer in doubt. Lawrence had just 34 passing.

Randy Chase finished with 74 yards in 15 carries to spark the Gael offense. Craig Schau gained 59 yards in 14 carries before being injured late in the third quarter.

Jerry Aranda gained 65 yards and Ron Schmalfeldt 60 for the Tigers.

Galien took advantage of the second Lawrence turnover late in the first quarter to up its lead to 14-0. After Matt Koziel recovered Dave Congdon's fumble at the Tiger 32, it took the Gaels 10 plays to score. Luther capped the drive with a four-yard scoring run and then passed to Bill Anderson for the conversion.

Lawrence came back with 7:37 to play in the first half on a two-yard run by Congdon to make it 14-6. The Tigers then took themselves right out of the game on the first series of the second half.

On fourth and three at mid-field, Lawrence went for it but Congdon was stopped one yard short on a sweep.

Four plays later Schau's eight-yard run put the game away. Luther passed to Mike Kuntz for the conversion to make it 22-6.

Chase and Congdon traded fourth-quarter touchdowns. Chase scoring on a 20-yard scamper and Congdon on a three-yard run.

18-Quarter Drought Ended In 14-0 Win

NILES — The shutout was on the other foot here Friday night. Niles, blanked in its last 18 quarters, reversed the role and shut out Dowagiac 14-0.

The win snapped a six-game losing streak. Niles wound up 3-6, its worst season since 1962. Niles boasted 10 straight winning seasons until this year.

Dowagiac, co-Blossomland champions, closed out with a 6-3 mark. The game marked the eighth straight time the Chieftains have held an opponent to two touchdowns or less.

"We've played good defense

all year long," Niles defensive coordinator Dave Davison said. "In the last six games we've played the co-champions of the Big Seven (St. Joseph, Holland, Battle Lake Lakeview and Port

A blocked punt midway through the first quarter helped Niles to the touchdown which snapped the shutout streak. Bob Waalkes' attempt was partially blocked and rolled just five yards before being downed at the Dowagiac 30. Eight plays later Kevin Thomas went over from the one. Tim Tyler's kick made it 7-0.

The Vikings clinched the win on the opening drive of the second half, marching 51 yards in four plays. A 58-yard run by Jim Prucci capped the drive after an offside penalty had put Niles in the hole.

Kevin Thomas led all rushers in the game with 108 yards in 28 carries. Dowagiac, averaging 200 yards rushing in its first eight games, was held to just 74 by the Viking defense. Doug Mitchell, the area's fourth leading rusher, was held to less than 50 yards.

SH Proves Stubborn Foe For Vicksburg

Rams Edged 9-6 By Co-Champs

VICKSBURG — South Haven turned in a rugged defensive game but it wasn't quite enough as the Rams werehipped 9-6 by Vicksburg here Friday night.

The win earns Vicksburg a share of the Wolverine conference crown. The Bulldogs and Gull Lake both end with 7-1 league marks.

South Haven ends at 3-5 in league play and 4-5 overall. This is the Rams' worst season since 1967 and breaks a string of four straight winning seasons. Tom Grubka put the hosts ahead 9-0 on an up-yard sneak in the second quarter and Rick Vleugel kicked the PAT.

But the Rams bounced right back in the same period on a one-yard sneak by quarterback

Perry Palanca. The Rams threatened to score in the last quarter as they bulled in the Vicksburg 22. But a clipping penalty brought back the play.

South Haven, with two minutes to go in the game, had fourth down and long yardage to go from its own two. Palanca then intentionally downed the SOUTH BEND — Brandywine tailback sensation Daryl Walls oiled a fabulous high school football career in a losing effort here Friday night.

Marinette, Menominee Teams In 78th Meeting

MARINETTE, Wis. (AP) — A lot of blocks and tackles, plus flying wedges, sleeper plays and the sort of things that were legitimate in the early years of football, have been tossed by Marinette and Menominee, Mich., schoolboy football teams since 1894.

That was the year the oldest interstate high school football rivalry in the nation was unraveled. On Saturday, the same two prep teams will clash for the 78th time in the 81-year history of the series.

There are other high school rivalries older than the Marinette-Menominee series, but all are intrastate contests.

After four years of painstaking research, the National Federation of State High School Associations, Elgin, Ill., confirmed that the Marinette-Menominee series is the oldest interstate rivalry in the nation.

Niles Blanks Dowagiac

18-Quarter Drought Ended In 14-0 Win

NILES — The shutout was on the other foot here Friday night. Niles, blanked in its last 18 quarters, reversed the role and shut out Dowagiac 14-0.

The win snapped a six-game losing streak. Niles wound up 3-6, its worst season since 1962. Niles boasted 10 straight winning seasons until this year.

Dowagiac, co-Blossomland champions, closed out with a 6-3 mark. The game marked the eighth straight time the Chiefs have held an opponent to two touchdowns or less.

"We've played good defense

all year long," Niles defensive coordinator Dave Davison said. "In the last six games we've played the co-champions of the Big Seven (St. Joseph, Holland, Battle Lake Lakeview and Portage Northern), the co-Blossomland champ (Dowagiac) and the No. 5 team in state (Kalamazoo Central). We gave up only 45 points and still won only one of the games."

A blocked punt midway through the first quarter helped Niles to the touchdown which snapped the shutout streak. Bob Waalkes' attempt was partially blocked and rolled just five yards before being downed at the Dowagiac 30. Eight plays later Kevin Thomas went over from the one. Tim Tyler's kick made it 7-0.

The Vikings clinched the win on the opening drive of the second half, marching 51 yards in four plays. A 56-yard run by Jim Frucci capped the drive after an offside penalty had put Niles in the hole.

Kevin Thomas led all rushers in the game with 108 yards in 28 carries. Dowagiac, averaging 209 yards rushing in its first eight games, was held to just 74 by the Viking defense. Doug Mitchell, the area's fourth leading rusher, was held to less than 50 yards.

DECATUR — Defense wins football games. Any good coach will tell you that.

And Friday night Decatur's defense did just that — won a football game. The Raiders held off repeated second-half challenges by White Pigeon to post an upset 14-12 win here.

The loss was just the second in nine games for White Pigeon. Decatur finished 6-3.

Decatur scored once in each of the first two quarters to grab a quick 14-0 lead. Terry Penning's four-yard run capped a 90-yard

Falcons Have Vikings' Number

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

Minnesota is on another lengthy winning streak. That's good. Its next opponent is Atlanta. That's bad.

It's a strange relationship these two National Football League teams have with each other. The Vikings have been constant winners these past half-dozen years or so. The Falcons have been mediocre at best during that stretch.

Two years ago, the Vikings had a big streak going, as usual. They were 9-0 going into a nationally televised game with the Falcons. When they came out of it, they were 9-1, the victims of a 20-14 upset.

So it goes.

This year Minnesota is 7-0 and has a streak of 10 regular-season victories going. Are the Vikes thinking about a perfect season? Maybe — but they won't admit it.

"We're concerned about keeping a high level of play and improving every week," says quarterback Fran Tarkenton. "We can't be thinking about a perfect season at this stage."

The Falcons take a 2-5 record into Sunday's game. But what they don't take into it is quarterback Steve Bartkowski, the NFL's No. 1 draft choice. He suffered a dislocated elbow two weeks ago and will be on the sidelines while Kim McQuilken or Pat Sullivan try to solve Minnesota's defense.

In Sunday's other games it's Washington at the New York

Giants, St. Louis at Philadelphia, the New York Jets at Miami, Baltimore at Buffalo, Houston at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Denver, New Orleans at San Francisco at Los Angeles; Green Bay at Chicago; Cleveland at Detroit and New England at San Diego. On Monday night, Kansas City is at Dallas.

While the Vikings appear to have the National Conference Central's title wrapped up, the Redskins, 5-2, are involved in a three-way scramble with St. Louis and Dallas for first place in the NFC East.

Washington was forced into overtime last Sunday before defeating the Cowboys. They'd prefer to have a game against the Giants like the one they did early in the season, when they romped 49-13. And the Cardinals would like the Eagles to have another game like they did last Monday night, when they were clobbered 42-3 by Los Angeles.

The Jets, too, suffered a humiliating defeat recently, getting thrashed 43-0 by the Dolphins. New York hopes to get even in Miami for that loss — and also to wipe out the memory of last week's bitter "fourth-and-one" failure that led to its loss to Buffalo. The Bills, by winning that one, stayed a game back of Miami. They hope to at least remain that close by knocking off the resurgent Colts.

While Miami and Buffalo tussle in the AFC East, Houston and Pittsburgh go head-to-head for at least a share of the AFC Central lead. They're tied at 6-1, along with Cincinnati.

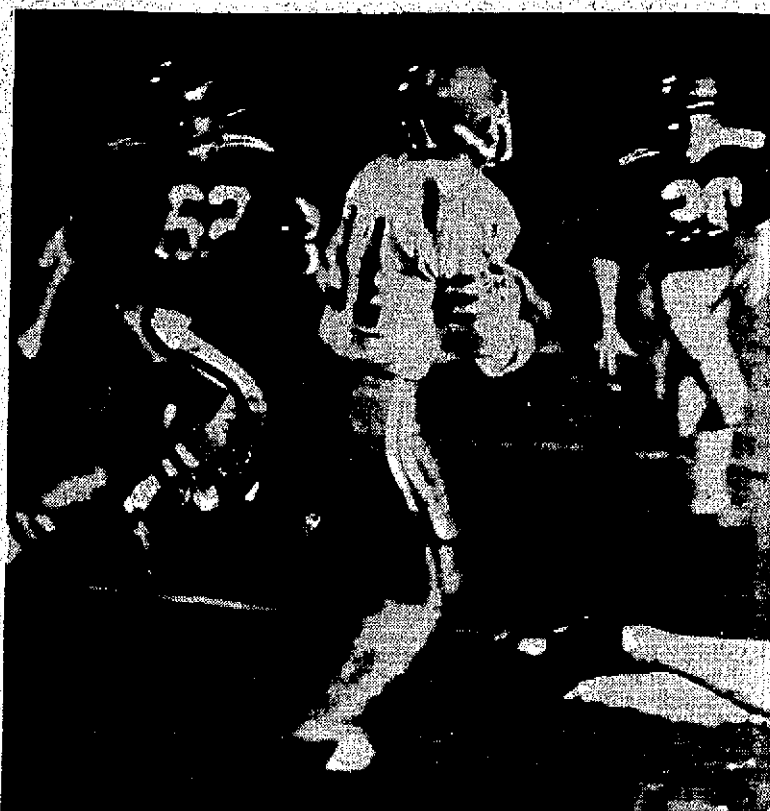

The Oilers, off to the best start in their 16-season history, will be out to shut down Pittsburgh's five-game winning streak. In Denver, the Broncos' preseason hopes of challenging Oakland in the AFC West have been crumpled by a wave of injuries. Now they're preoccupied with merely breaking even while the Bengals will be trying to establish the running game that's been absent thus far this year.

With the apparent demise of the Broncos, Oakland is cruising along toward an apparently easy AFC West crown. But the Raiders must deal with New Orleans, riding high after it gave Ernie Hofferle a victory in his debut as head coach last Sunday.

Chicago Coach Jack Pardee and his equally new counterpart at Green Bay, Bart Starr, are hoping to salvage at least some respectability from an already shot season. The Bears and Packers are meeting for the 112th time — the longest rivalry in the league — and each carries a 1-6 record into the game.

Those records are one better than Cleveland and San Diego, each still looking for victory. No. 1. The Browns take on Detroit, and will be testing third-string quarterback Joe Reed, who shined for the Lions last week against San Francisco. The Chargers, who host the Patriots, found their long-lost offense last weekend, when they scored 24 points against the Giants compared with their average of six in the six previous games.

Desperation Shot Beats Bulls

CHICAGO (AP) — "Tonight was like having 12 guys in a gang fight — everyone did his job," said Detroit Pistons coach Ray Scott as he savored his team's 124-122 victory over the Chicago Bulls on John Mengelt's 35-foot off-balance jump shot with three seconds remaining.

Bulls coach Dick Motta simmered in a slow burn after Friday night's defeat, which he blamed on poor defense and lackluster performances by Chicago big men Tom Boerwinkle and Nate Thurmond.

"I thought our defense was atrocious, and any time we lose to a team without Bob Lanier we don't deserve to win," Motta said. "It's a tough loss to swallow...What really burns me up was the play of our two big centers...It looks to me like neither center is going to carry us this season the way we had hoped."

The win was Detroit's third in a row and fifth of the season against three losses. The Bulls are now 3-5 on the young National Basketball Association season.

Chicago's Bob Love, returning to action after a six-day suspension, hit for a game-high 32 points and sparked a fourth quarter rally after the Bulls trailed 113-105. A three-point play by Love, a basket by Leon Benbow, two free throws by Love, another basket by Love and two free throws by Rowland Garrett gave the Bulls a 116-115 advantage with 4:02 left.

Detroit's 3-foot-10 playmaker Kevin Porter tied it at 122-122 with 38 seconds remaining on a 15-footer from the top of the key. Benbow, who had put the Bulls ahead just seconds before, missed a jumper and Detroit called time out with 18 seconds showing on the clock.

Mengelt, with his back to the basket, took a pass from Porter, dribbled into the right corner and fired a desperation shot that connected for the winning tally.

"The plan was to set up a double pick on the weak side," Mengelt said. "(Kevin) Porter was to get me the ball and I was to go in. But the Bulls clogged up the middle and I had to shoot off balance away from play. No matter what happened I was to shoot."

In other NBA contests, Philadelphia defeated Phoenix, 103-98; Cleveland edged New Orleans 94-90; Milwaukee stopped Boston 104-101; Los Angeles downed New York 105-97 and Portland nipped Kansas City 92-88.

A 33-point performance by George McGinnis, including seven in Philadelphia's winning fourth-quarter surge, carried the 76ers past Phoenix.

Rookie Dave Meyers sank two free throws with 10 seconds showing on the clock to boost Milwaukee past Boston. Bob Dandridge led Milwaukee with 28 points, while Boston's Dave Cowens took game honors with 28.

With the second-largest crowd in NBA history watching, Campy Russell pumped in 22 points to lead Cleveland to victory over New Orleans in the Louisiana Superdome. A crowd of 21,189 saw a six-game Jazz winning streak snapped.

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar scored 40 points, including 29 in the second half, and grabbed 22 rebounds to lead Los Angeles past New York.

Portland ran off eight straight points early in the third period to open up a 16-point margin, 57-41, then coasted to victory over Kansas City. John Johnson scored 18 points to pace a balanced Trail Blazers' attack.

NHL To Enforce Violence Rules

TORONTO (AP) — National Hockey League referees were under special instructions Friday to increase enforcement of two rules dealing with deliberate injury or attempt to injure.

Scotty Morrison, the NHL's referee-in-chief, issued the orders to his officials after Detroit's Dan Maloney was charged with assault following an incident involving Toronto's Brian Glennie Wednesday night.

"We felt when we left our referees' training camp in the summer we had a good level of officiating," said Morrison, "but obviously we'll have to review the situation."

Rule 44 calls for a match penalty to be imposed on any player who deliberately attempts to injure an opponent and calls for the incident to be reported to the president of the league. Rule 49 calls for a match penalty to a player who deliberately injures an opponent.

Meanwhile, other hockey observers questioned the assault charge against Maloney, who knocked Glennie to the ice from behind, then continued fighting with the Leafs' defenseman.

"The whole hockey violence thing has been blown out of proportion," said Punch Imlach, general manager of the Buffalo Sabres. "The law is the law and hockey business is hockey business," he said. "Everyone has their definition of violence in hockey. Mine is two guys standing there hitting each other over the head with their sticks."

NFL Talks Recessed

NEW YORK (AP) — After a fruitless 13-hour session, the 26 National Football League owners return here Nov. 19 to devise a way to stock Seattle and Tampa, the league's newest teams.

The marathon meeting, which began about 9 a.m. EST, and lasted until nearly 10:30 p.m. Friday, was recessed because "everybody had to get back for their games," Rozelle said.

Seattle and Tampa, who begin play next season, will be stocked by a combination of players from existing teams and next year's college draft.

"The problem was reaching a balance between the freeze number for veterans and the draft choices," Rozelle said. Rozelle said the key stumbling block to the deliberations "was trying to figure out the numbers. They (Seattle and Tampa) will be drawing from the largest pool ever."

The stronger teams want to protect more of their players and give Seattle and Tampa additional draft choices. Rozelle said. The weaker teams are pushing for a smaller protective list and, consequently, holding on to as many draft choices as they can.

Grammas To Manage

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Alex Grammas has accepted the considerable challenge of reviving the Milwaukee Brewers.

His gray-flecked hair neatly trimmed, the business graduate of Mississippi State University spoke of organization, motivation and leadership as components in his blueprint to redirect the team that finished fifth, 28 games out of first place, in the American League East.

"Everybody gets a fresh start the first day of spring training. I don't know what the problems were here, but I'm confident this ball club can improve," said Grammas, 48, who agreed to a three-year contract Friday.

He stressed the human element. "Self-assured and smiling easily, he said patience, teaching and communication were essential.

Grammas for six years was the third base coach and top lieutenant to Manager Sparky Anderson of the world champion Cincinnati Reds. He wants to emulate the traits of one of the most successful leaders in contemporary sports, but made it plain he will be Alex Grammas, not Sparky Anderson when he manages the Brewers.

Grammas, an infielder with St. Louis, Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs from 1954 through '63, was the only candidate flown here by the Brewers for interviews.

today's final round of the PGA Fall Qualifying School.

The 22-year-old Pate, the 1974 U.S. Amateur champ who played collegiate golf at the University of Alabama, fired a par-72 Friday over the 6,800-yard Magnolia Course at Walt Disney World. He has a 90-hole total of 390, 18 under.

Pate's three-birdie, three-bogey effort Friday marked the first time he has not broken par. "But it seemed that every time I made a bogey I came back with a birdie on the next hole," said Pate, who turned pro last June after an outstanding amateur career.

After bogeying the second hole, Pate got the shot back with a birdie on the third. He also bogeyed the sixth, but recovered with another birdie on the eighth. On the back nine, Pate missed the green to bogey 16, but made it up with a birdie at 17.

Pate's closest pursuer in this 108-hole marathon is George Burns, who is at 355 after shooting a fifth-round 71. Burns, a transplanted New Yorker now living in Delray Beach, Fla., was a member of the 1975 U.S. Walker Cup team and also was a noted amateur before turning pro last July.

Tied for third at 356 were Gary Koch of Temple Terrace, Fla., also a member of this year's Walker Cup team; Don Pooley of Riverside, Calif.; and Bobby Strohle of New Albany, Ga. Koch shot 71 Friday; Pooley 69 and Strohle 70.

A field of 375 players, now reduced to 83, started play here last Monday, hoping to win a PGA tour card. The low 21 contestants and ties following Saturday's final round will be awarded cards, giving them playing privileges on the 1978 PGA tour starting with the Tucson Open in January.

Grammas for six years was the third base coach and top lieutenant to Manager Sparky Anderson of the world champion Cincinnati Reds. He wants to emulate the traits of one of the most successful leaders in contemporary sports, but made it plain he will be Alex Grammas, not Sparky Anderson when he manages the Brewers.

Grammas, an infielder with St. Louis, Cincinnati and the Chicago Cubs from 1954 through '63, was the only candidate flown here by the Brewers for interviews.

today's final round of the PGA Fall Qualifying School.

The 22-year-old Pate, the 1974 U.S. Amateur champ who played collegiate golf at the University of Alabama, fired a par 72 Friday over the 6,800-yard Magnolia Course at Walt Disney World. He has a 90-hole total of 350, 10 under.

Pate's three-birdie, three-bogey effort Friday marked the first time he has not broken par. "But it seemed that every time I made a bogey I came back with a birdie on the next hole," said Pate, who turned pro last June after an outstanding amateur career.

After bogeying the second hole, Pate got the shot back on a birdie on the third. He also bogeyed the sixth, but recovered with another birdie on the eighth. On the back nine, Pate missed the green to bogey 16, but made it up with a birdie at 17.

Pate's closest pursuer in this 108-hole marathon is George Burns, who is at 355 after shooting a fifth-round 71. Burns, a transplanted New Yorker now living in Delray Beach, Fla., was a member of the 1975 U.S. Walker Cup team and also was a noted amateur before turning pro last July.

Tied for third at 356 were Gary Koch of Temple Terrace, Fla., also a member of this year's Walker Cup team; Don Pooley of Riverside, Calif.; and Bobby Strobe of New Albany, Ga. Koch shot 71 Friday, Pooley 69 and Strobe 70.

A field of 375 players, now reduced to 83, started play here last Monday, hoping to win a PGA tour card. The low 21 contestants and ties following Saturday's final round will be awarded cards, giving them playing privileges on the 1976 PGA tour starting with the Tucson Open in January.

Link Eyed In Fire, Fencing Ring Probe

ST. CLAIR SHORES, Mich. (AP) — Authorities are investigating whether the firebombing of FBI informant John Whalen's home Thursday was connected to his planned testimony on a multi-million dollar fencing ring.

Whalen, a convicted burglar, was the government's chief witness in its successful prosecution of Michigan Supreme Court Justice and former Gov. John Swainson on three counts of perjury.

"We have to assume the possibility that the purpose of the firebombing was to convince Whalen that he should stop cooperating with law enforcement people," said Robert Healy, chief trial lawyer for the Wayne County Organized Crime Task Force.

Whalen, 29, and his estranged wife, Joann, were under federal protection Friday after the explosion and fire ripped through his home in this northeastern Detroit suburb. There were no injuries.

Whalen is scheduled to give key testimony in the upcoming trial of 12 men involved in what police say was a $4.5 million-a-year fencing operation.

Whalen's attorney, DeWay LaRene, said his client was "unhappy" over the loss of his home, but he "has made an agreement (to cooperate) with the Wayne County prosecutor and task force and he is not going to back out."

Officials said Friday they have no suspects in the explosion and fire that gutted Whalen's three-bedroom, brick ranch-style home, which had been unoccupied for several weeks.

Arson investigators said they are certain the blaze was started by someone who doused the inside of the home with gasoline and then, from a safe distance, lit a fuse.

Police said they found wicks laid from the garage to the house and into the back door. Two five-gallon containers that smelled of gasoline also were found at the scene and taken to a state police crime laboratory.

Fire officials said gas jets in a basement fireplace had been turned on apparently by the arsonist who touched off the blaze.

Whalen reported the home was broken into Tuesday night. However, a neighbor said he saw Whalen and two other men enter the house Tuesday night and load some furniture and personal belongings into a truck.

Other neighbors said a burglary alarm in the home was disconnected by Whalen's brother after the reported burglary. They said lights in the house and in the backyard had been left on at all times, but the bright floodlights in the yard were turned off sometime before the 5 a.m. fire.

The explosion came just four days after a U.S. District Court jury returned a verdict against Swainson.

The 50-year-old justice was acquitted of a bribery conspiracy charge but found guilty of lying to a federal grand jury probing an alleged $30,000 payoff scheme in which Swainson reportedly sought to get a new trial for Whalen.

US-31 Right-Of-Way Talks To Begin Soon

NILES — Preliminary interviews with owners of property needed as right-of-way for the construction of 3.4 miles of US-31 freeway at the south end of Berrien county will begin within two weeks, the state highway and transportation department said.

Twenty-four parcels of property will be required for the new relocated freeway from the Indiana border, to north of US-12, west of Niles. Ten parcels are residential, one is commercial and 13 are vacant land.

The far southern portion of the proposed freeway, which will eventually run from the Indiana border, north to I-94, will be completed first.

Bids for construction of this section are scheduled to be received in December, 1978. Construction cost is estimated at $3.9 million, including a full interchange with US-12.

Representatives of the department's right-of-way division will personally contact all property owners and occupants. Occupants forced to relocate, whether renters or owners, are eligible for supplemental benefits in addition to the fair market value of their property. Supplemental benefits include moving costs, funds to purchase replacement housing or rental supplements.

Department officials emphasized that relocation assistance is based on occupancy at the time of purchase negotiations. Such negotiations are not scheduled until April 1, 1976.

Occupants in the highway right-of-way area should check with the department before moving. Questions should be directed to the District Right-Of-Way Agent, Dept. of State Highways and Transportation, Kalamazoo District Office, 75-45 South Westnedge avenue, Portage, Mich. 49081; or the department's Relocation Field Office, Second Floor, Niles city hall, 508 East Main street, Niles, on Wednesday afternoons from 1:30 to 3:30.

A brochure describing the department's relocation assistance program can be obtained by contacting the Kalamazoo district office.

Hagar Drive Hits $3,000

The Hagar township fire department, aided by the department's women's auxiliary, has raised $3,000 of a needed $5,000 goal to be used toward applying for a state grant to purchase a new ambulance for the department-operated ambulance service.

John Bergstedt, a Hagar township trustee and chairman of the joint fire and ambulance board, said various fundraising projects, including breakfasts served at the fire station, have resulted in $3,000 being collected so far.

Bergstedt said the ambulance presently used by the Hagar township department is a 1968 model and over-increasing state regulations will eventually prohibit its use.

According to Bergstedt, after the goal is reached the joint fire and ambulance board plans to file a grant application to the office of highway safety, for approximately $11,000 to be used for purchasing a new ambulance.

Famed Michigan Hotel Has Seen Better Days

By DAN TROUTMAN
BIG BAY, Mich. (AP) — The Hollywood stars used to breeze through the Thunder Bay Inn when Otto Preminger was filming "Anatomy of a Murder" here in 1959, but now the hotel is deserted and dusty.

Its owner, Margaret Hutchinson of Columbus, Ohio, who's put the weatherbeaten pink building up for sale, thinks a new owner would be able to bring the lodge back to life.

"I'd love to have somebody open it to be a good place to eat," she says.

The inn, which was known as the Big Bay Lodge before the movie was filmed, used to draw "loads of people," according to Mrs. Hutchinson, but it became increasingly difficult to manage from Ohio.

Now, however, "the nice thing is that they really have four seasons there," she explains.

The hotel, which has 17 guest rooms, has been closed for about five years.

Famed Michigan Hotel Has Seen Better Days

By DAN TROUTMAN
BIG BAY, Mich. (AP) — The Hollywood stars used to breeze through the Thunder Bay Inn when Otto Preminger was filming "Anatomy of a Murder" here in 1969, but now the hotel is deserted and dusty.

Its owner, Margaret Hutchison of Columbus, Ohio, who's put the weatherbeaten pink building up for sale, thinks a new owner would be able to bring the lodge back to life. "I'd love to have somebody open it to be a good place to eat," she says.

The inn, which was known as the Big Bay Lodge before the movie was filmed, used to draw "loads of people," according to Mrs. Hutchison, but it became increasingly difficult to manage from Ohio. She and her husband, I.B. Hutchison, found it difficult to hire help to run the inn, which was renamed the Thunder Bay Inn to capitalize on the publicity generated by the movie.

A few years ago, the season for tourists and vacationers ended abruptly in November.

Now, however, "the nice thing is that they really have four seasons there," she explains. The hotel, which has 17 guest rooms, has been closed for about five years.

Several persons, including some from the Marquette area, have expressed interest in buying the hotel, Mrs. Hutchison says, but she declines to reveal the asking price.

The inn, once owned by Henry Ford, served as one of the central sets in the movie, which was based on the best-selling novel of the same name, written by former Supreme Court Justice John Voelker of Ishpeming. The story and movie were based on an actual slaying, which occurred in the tiny northern Marquette County hamlet in 1952.

Voelker was well-qualified to write the story — as the defense attorney in the case, he was successful in getting the accused acquitted.

After Voelker's book soared to the top of the best-seller charts, he sold the film rights to Carlyle Productions for $150,000. It was only a matter of time before Marquette County was swarmed with the cast and hangers-on during the filming on location here.

Up to Big Bay traveled the stars, including Ben Gazzarra, who played the role of the accused slayer.

In the real case, Lt. Coleman Peterson allegedly shot Mike Chenoweth, the proprietor of the Lumberjack Tavern.

Peterson reportedly emptied his German Luger into Chenoweth — cast as Barney Quill, a boastful, he-man type in the book and film — as he tended bar.

During the shooting of the film, the production company built a $25,000 annex onto Hutchison's lodge for a set. Preminger directed scenes inside and outside the hotel, at the Lumberjack, which still stands down the street, at Perkins Park and on the street of Big Bay.

Big Bay, a onetime logging community whose population in 1971 was listed as 239, suddenly became the film capital of the county.

About 35 residents, including the Hutchisons, were cast as "extras" in the black-and-white movie.

Never before, and probably never again, would the folks in Big Bay have the chance to see the screen greats, like James Stewart, who played Paul Biegler, the defense attorney, and others written about and photographed in countless magazines.

Until then, the Hutchisons had been putting up summer tourists who had wanted to take it easy near lakes Independence and Superior.

The Hutchisons bought the inn, which has four dining rooms, in 1956, but they had owned a cabin in Big Bay since 1932.

The first night they stayed there, Chenoweth was killed in the saloon.

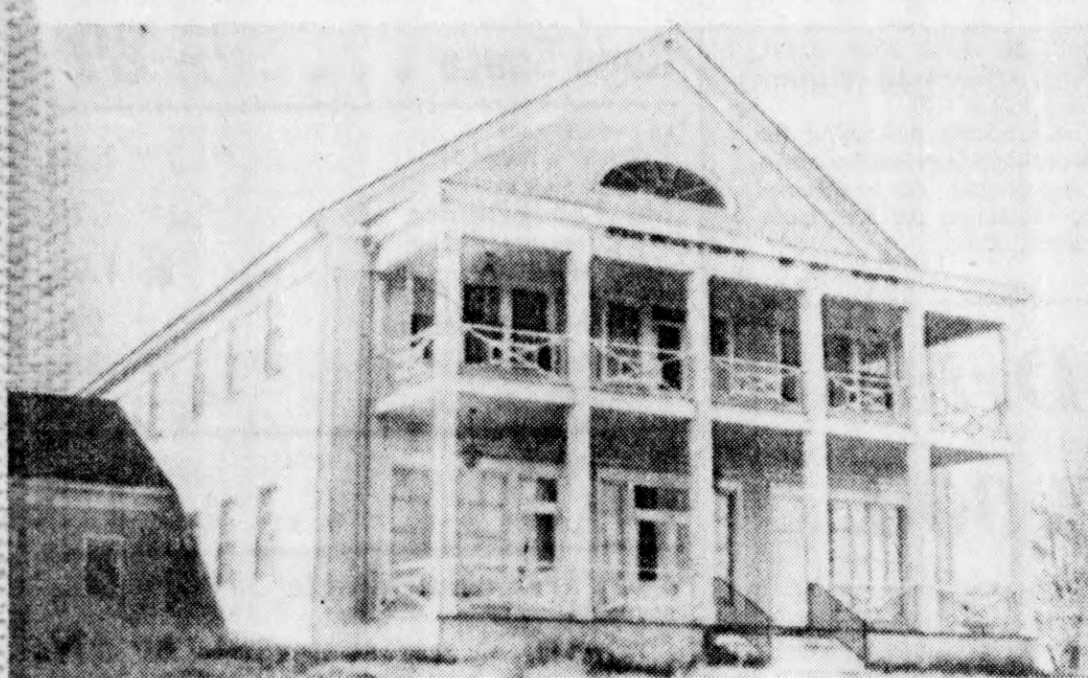

"My wife was ready to pack up and get out of town right away," Hutchison said at the time.

Hutchison was teaching a course at Northern Michigan College, now Northern Michigan University, when he became acquainted with Big Bay.

He found the fish biting better there than anywhere else he'd ever been, so the next year he bought the cabin.

Even if she sells the inn, Mrs. Hutchison says she'll keep her house across the street.

She has three daughters and, she says, "We love it up there."

Michigan Shares In Black's Gratitude

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Richmond, Va., postal clerk has mailed Michigan $50 as part of his $2,500 birthday gift to the country and a written celebration of being American.

Michigan got the $50 from Thomas Cannon, a World War II veteran and distribution clerk at Richmond's main post office. He wrote Gov. William Milliken that he planned to send a $50 postal money order to each of the 50 states as "simply one man's tribute to this great nation, the United States of America, in observance of her forthcoming birthday."

Postal orders from Cannon have been received by a number of other states, news reports show.

Attempts to reach Cannon by phone were unsuccessful. He has asked fellow post office employees not to divulge his address. A phone number is not listed in his name.

In a cover letter to Milliken, Cannon said the money is not a publicity stunt, a promotional gimmick, or "a scheme designed to curry favor with any social or political faction in your state or in any other."

Then he stated his reasons for wanting to repay America.

"Her glaring inequities, racial prejudice, gross materialism and monumental egotism notwithstanding, America has been and still is the mightiest and most honorable among earthly nations, primarily because she is enfolded by a conscientious, generous and very compassionate people."

"Considering the extent and complexity of her ethnic mixture and the overwhelming problems involved in administering a nation of her size, it is unfair and unreasonable for anyone to expect her to meet the expectations of every self-interest group which seeks and demands satisfaction of one kind or another."

"It is unreasonable to expect her to be infallible in every decision affecting her foreign and domestic policies. We fully imperfect as we all are as individuals and difficult as it is for one person to live in harmony with another, it is sheer folly for anyone to expect a nation — which is but a multiplication and magnification of the individual — to find it any easier to solve infinitely complex problems of human relations on a massive scale."

Cannon, who is black, said he loved America when he felt his scorn was deserved. He said he eagerly participated in the 1960s Civil Rights demonstrations and anti-war protests.

With that in mind, he wrote Milliken, patriots "are not those who seek to keep America what she now is or who seek to return America to that which she once was. The true patriots are those who seek to make America that which she is capable of becoming for the greater glory of God and man."

He continued, "Even as I caustically criticized America in the past, I was always appreciative of all blessings received and always mindful of the inescapable truth and I am that which I am because America is that which she is — my character having been molded by the American experience and my reaction to that experience."

In an unusual thank you note, Milliken apologized for taking so long.

"Your gesture is so unusual and the spirit shown so noble, that I think it took us a while to know what to say or how to react.... On behalf of all of us, let me say thank you for the love and concern you have shown for your country and your fellow countrymen."

Cannon's patriotic $50 went into the state general fund under "miscellaneous revenue."

Will Buy Castle

TRECHTINGSHAUSEN, West Germany (AP) — Duchess Barbara von Mecklenburg has decided to sell her 700-year-old Rhine River castle to an Austrian opera singer, despite a higher bid from the Hare Krishna religious sect.

The duchess accepted a bid of $192,000 from Hermann Hecher and promised to help him restore the rocky citadel, Burg Rheinstein. The religious sect, which wanted to turn the castle into a temple, had offered $200,000.

Michigan Shares In Black's Gratitude

By PATRICK CONNOLLY
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Richmond, Va., postal clerk has mailed Michigan $50 as part of his $2,500 birthday gift to the country and a written celebration of being American.

Michigan got the $50 from Thomas Cannon, a World War II veteran and distribution clerk at Richmond's main post office. He wrote Gov. William Milliken that he planned to send a $50 postal money order to each of the 50 states as "simply one man's tribute to this great nation, the United States of America, in observance of her forthcoming birthday."

Postal orders from Cannon have been received by a number of other states, news reports show.

Attempts to reach Cannon by phone were unsuccessful. He has asked fellow post office employees not to divulge his address. A phone number is not listed in his name.

In a cover letter to Milliken, Cannon said the money is not a publicity stunt, a promotional gimmick or "a scheme designed to curry favor with any social or political faction in your state or in any other."

Then he stated his reasons for wanting to repay America.

"Her glaring inequities, racial prejudice, gross materialism and monumental egotism notwithstanding, America has been and still is the mightiest and most honorable among earthly nations, primarily because she is enfolded by a conscientious, generous and very compassionate people.

"Considering the extent and complexity of her ethnic mixture and the overwhelming problems involved in administering a nation of her size, it is unfair and unreasonable for anyone to expect her to meet the expectations of every self-interest group which seeks and demands satisfaction of one kind or another.

"It is unreasonable to expect her to be infallible in every decision affecting her foreign and domestic policies. Woefully imperfect as we all are as individuals and difficult as it is for one person to live in harmony with another, it is sheer folly for anyone to expect a nation — which is but a multiplication and magnification of the individual — to find it any easier to solve infinitely complex problems of human relations on a massive scale."

Cannon, who is black, said he booed America when he felt his scorn was deserved. He said he eagerly participated in the 1960s Civil Rights demonstrations and anti-war protests.

With that in mind, he wrote Milliken, patriots "are not those who seek to keep America what she now is or who seek to return America to that which she once was. The true patriots are those who seek to make America that which she is capable of becoming for the greater glory of God and man." He continued, "Even as I caustically criticized America in the past, I was always appreciative of all blessings received and always mindful of the inescapable truth and I am that which I am because America is that which she is — my character having been molded by the American experience and my reaction to that experience."

In an unusual thank you note, Milliken apologized for taking so long.

"Your gesture is so unusual and the spirit shown so noble, that I think it took us a while to know what to say or how to react.... On behalf of all of us, let me say thank you for the love and concern you have shown for your country and your fellow countrymen."

Cannon's patriotic $50 went into the state general fund under "miscellaneous revenue."

Will Buy Castle

TRECHTINGSHAUSEN, West Germany (AP) — Duchess Barbara von Mecklenburg has decided to sell her 700-year-old Rhine River castle to an Austrian opera singer, despite a higher bid from the Hare Krishna religious sect.

The duchess accepted a bid of $132,000 from Hermann Hecher and promised to help him restore the rocky citadel, Burg Rheinstein. The religious sect, which wanted to turn the castle into a temple, had offered $200,000.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Mills Around

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market milled around uncertainly this past week while investors tried to peer through the clouds surrounding New York City's financial outlook.

Trading was sluggish, and prices finished narrowly mixed despite a midweek rally attempt.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials finished almost exactly where it started — down a token .24 at 835.80 — and the broader market measures made modest gains.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index, for instance, edged up .29 to 88.33, and the New York Stock Exchange composite index rose .19 to 47.24.

Gainers outnumbered losers in the over-all count on the NYSE by 1,019 to 758 among the 2,822 issues traded.

Big Board volume averaged 14.96 million shares a day, compared with 14.65 million the week before.

Interest rates continued their recent decline, which culminated Friday in the third prime-rate reduction in as many weeks by New York's First National City Bank. The cut from 7 1/2 to 7 1/4 per cent in the key rate on loans to top-credit businesses was expected to be matched soon by other banks.

Top government economists agreed that the pace of the economic recovery was slowing somewhat from the sharp jump in output recorded in the third quarter.

But they nevertheless were forecasting an annual growth rate of 7 per cent, after adjustment for inflation, over the next several quarters.

After a 10-point drop in the Dow on Monday, the market seemed to try to respond to that favorable picture. The average climbed 4 points Tuesday and another 6 Wednesday.

It faltered briefly Thursday morning after the Labor Department reported that its wholesale price index rose at its sharpest rate in a year last month.

But reports on a new effort by New York's Municipal Assistance Corp. to raise funds for New York City enabled it to finish that day with another 4-point gain.

By Friday, however, the market seemed to have lapsed back into a state of confusion and uncertainty over the outlook for the city and the potential effects its problems might have through the economy.

The big-name glamor stocks posted some substantial gains. IBM picked up 3/4 to 216 1/4; Philip Morris rose 1/2 to 51 1/2; Upjohn was up 1/2 to 43 1/2, and American Home Products added 1/4 to 38 1/2.

Texaco, the week's most-active stock, dipped 1 to 23 in activity marked by several large-block trades.

There were 124 new highs for the year recorded on the Big Board, against 72 new lows.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index climbed .35 to 53.34.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was up .4 to 264.5.

State Jobless Rate Higher For October

DETROIT (AP) — Unemployment in Michigan rose three-tenths of 1 per cent during October to 12.4 per cent, reversing a four-month jobless rate decline, the state Employment Security Commission reported Friday.

MESC Deputy Director J.C. Friedman blamed the increase over the September level to temporary layoffs in the manufacturing sector, particularly at automotive plants.

He said 504,400 Michigan workers were jobless last month, an increase of 16,300 from 488,100 in September, when the jobless rate was 12.1 per cent.

A year ago, the state's unemployment rate was 7.3 per cent.

Friedman said unemployment in the Detroit metropolitan area last month was 13.5 per cent. He said the six-county area accounted for most of the rise in the state jobless rate.

Total unemployment in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Lapeer and St. Clair counties was 283,200, up from 251,000 in September, when the rate was 12.9 per cent. A year ago, the metropolitan area jobless rate was 8.1 per cent.

Friedman said temporary layoffs in Detroit-area automotive and related industries resulted from final production adjustments for the 1976 model run.

He said employment gains in the outside durable goods industry were offset by an increase in the total labor force. Other sectors of the economy showed few employment changes during the month, he said.

EDWARDSBURG

Officer Reported Assault Victim

EDWARDSBURG — Two men were arraigned in Cass Fourth District court in Cassopolis and a third is being sought in connection with an alleged assault early yesterday morning on an Edwardsburg police officer.

Charged with assault on a police officer are Harold Van Dusen, 48, route 3, Edwardsburg; and Robert Smith, 27, Niles. Smith was taken to Pawtucket hospital, Niles, for treatment for a head cut requiring nine stitches following his arrest, according to Edwardsburg Police Chief Norman Krupp.

Bond for the two men was set at $500 each and yesterday's arraignment was adjourned for a week so the men could obtain attorneys, Krupp said.

The Edwardsburg police officer who allegedly was assaulted, James Kidwell, 25, received bruises and lacerations but was not seriously injured, he said.

The incident occurred about 12:45 a.m. Friday as Kidwell was patrolling past the Uptown bar. Krupp said Kidwell stopped to investigate a man standing in front of the bar and was informed by the bar owner that the man had been locked out.

When Kidwell attempted to arrest the man for drunk and disorderly, two other patrons came outside and allegedly attacked the officer, Krupp said. The officer was hit and kicked several times, Krupp said.

State police from the Niles and White Pigeon posts and Cass county sheriff's deputies responded to assist the officer.

Krupp said a Niles man is being sought in a warrant as the third man who allegedly assaulted the officer.

Lawton Teenager Demands Hearing

PAW PAW — Jeff Walker, 17, Lawton, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of grand larceny when arraigned yesterday in Van Buren Seventh district court.

The charge stems from the alleged theft of an estimated $180 from the home of Cora Bogart, 123 East Fourth street, Lawton, on Sept. 3, according to Lawton police.

Walker was ordered held on $1,000 bond pending a Nov. 18 hearing.

In other cases, John Mezak, 21, South Haven, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of delivery of cocaine. According to the Van Buren prosecutor's office, the charge stems from a continuing investigation by South Haven police of alleged drug sales in South Haven.

Mezak is charged with delivering cocaine on or about Nov. 3. Arrested earlier this week in connection with the case were Douglas Stacey, 18, South Haven, on a charge of delivery of cocaine; Kent Drake, 18, South Haven, on a charge of possession of cocaine; and Dennis Hammond, 20, South Haven, on a charge of violation of the controlled substances act.

Mezak was lodged in the county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond pending a Nov. 18 hearing. Howard D. Davis, 36, Territorial road, Harford, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Nov. 6 in Keeler township.

A hearing was scheduled for Nov. 18 and bond set at $1,000.

$50 Million Mill Plan Dropped

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Plans to build a $50 million steel mill in Muskegon, Mich., were dropped Friday by North Star Steel Co., the firm's president announced.

Joseph Klemp said the decision was the result of strong environmental feelings from a segment of the Muskegon community that the mill should not be built on Lake Muskegon.

The firm is now evaluating other sites in Michigan and other states, Klemp said.

Construction of the plant would have meant 500 new jobs in the area, the firm said, with an additional 500 jobs created within five years.

Judge Weighing Fennville Suit

ALLEGAN — A suit against the Fennville school district asking that the court block the sale of the district's 68-year-old, vacant junior high school was taken under advisement yesterday by Allegan Circuit court Judge George Corsiglia.

The suit is being brought against the school district by David S. Hanacek, route 2, Fennville, whose bid of $5,000 to purchase the almost two acres of property was rejected by the school board Oct. 13.

Hanacek is seeking a court order to prevent title to the property from being transferred to Wayne Broughton of Fennville. Hanacek is also asking that the court order a reopening of bids.

The school board had awarded the property to Broughton for $1,500, with the stipulation that he demolish the building.

Lester Tooman, attorney for the school district, said he asked the court to dismiss Hanacek's suit.

Tooman said that Corsiglia said he needed more time to study the case and that a hearing on the matter would be called for in two or three weeks.

The property, located on West Main street in Fennville, was awarded to Broughton Oct. 13 when the board accepted his bid of $1,500 on the grounds that he would demolish the 68-year-old building at his own expense by June 1, 1976.

Hanacek bid $5,000 for purchase of the lot and building which he indicated he wanted to use as residence and furniture store.

Hanacek's bid was the highest of four seeking to purchase the property, according to Supt. James Tackmann.

Board members said the property was awarded to Broughton because it was in the best interest of the community that the building be demolished. The building was closed in 1972 after state officials said it was not structurally safe.

The board received eight bids for demolition only, ranging in cost from $9,774 to $32,000.

EDWARDSBURG

Officer Reported Assault Victim

EDWARDSBURG — Two men were arraigned in Cass Fourth District court in Cassopolis and a third is being sought in connection with an alleged assault early yesterday morning on an Edwardsburg police officer.

Charged with assault on a police officer are Harold Van Dusen, 49, route 3, Edwardsburg; and Robert Smith, 27, Niles. Smith was taken to Pawating hospital, Niles, for treatment for a head cut requiring nine stitches following his arrest, according to Edwardsburg Police Chief Norman Krupp.

Bond for the two men was set at $500 each and yesterday's arraignment was adjourned for a week so the men could obtain attorneys, Krupp said.

The Edwardsburg police officer who allegedly was assaulted, James Kidwell, 25, received

MESC Deputy Director J.C. Friedman blamed the increase over the September level to temporary layoffs in the manufacturing sector, particularly at automotive plants.

He said 504,400 Michigan workers were jobless last month, an increase of 16,300 from 488,100 in September, when the jobless rate was 12.1 per cent.

A year ago, the state's unemployment rate was 7.3 per cent.

Friedman said temporary unemployment in the Detroit metropolitan area last month was 13.5 per cent. He said the six-county area accounted for most of the rise in the state jobless rate, with unemployment in the metro area rising by 12,200 during the month.

Total unemployment in Wayne, Macomb, Oakland, Livingston, Lapeer and St. Clair counties was 263,200, up from 251,000 in September, when the rate was 12.9 per cent. A year ago, the metropolitan area jobless rate was 8.1 per cent.

Friedman said temporary layoffs in Detroit-area automotive and related industries resulted from final production adjustments for the 1976-model run.

He said employment gains in the outstate durable goods industry were offset by an increase in the total labor force. Other sectors of the economy showed few employment changes during the month, he said.

$50 Million Mill Plan Dropped

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Plans to build a $50 million steel mill in Muskegon, Mich., were dropped Friday by North Star Steel Co., the firm's president announced.

Joseph Klemp said the decision was the result of strong environmental feelings from a segment of the Muskegon community that the mill should not be built on Lake Muskegon.

The firm is now evaluating other sites in Michigan and other states, Klemp said.

Construction of the plant would have meant 500 new jobs in the area, the firm said, with an additional 500 jobs created within five years.

Lippe arrived in Cloquet late last week, and returned to Indiana Wednesday. He was hired as Cloquet superintendent Sept. 9 on a one-year, $26,500 contract.

Spain, Morocco Huddling On Saharan Compromise

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Spanish and Moroccan ministers were reported working on a Saharan compromise today that would enable hundreds of thousands of Moroccan bachelors to be on both sides of the Spanish Saharan border to go home.

One Moroccan official promised "a decisive turn of events in the next 24 hours."

Meanwhile, tens of thousands of Moroccan marchers opened a "second front" Friday some 120 miles east of their first crossing into Spanish Sahara the previous day.

Ernesto Caro, representing Spanish Premier Carlos Arias Navarro, flew unexpectedly to Morocco's temporary capital late Friday to resume high level negotiations, on ending the confrontation. He was immediately received by Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki.

Moroccan officials said Caro and King Hassan II of Morocco were expected to meet this morning in the king's Agadir palace, the over-all command post for the mass march by Moroccan civilians into Spanish Sahara, in the arid northwest corner of Africa.

Moroccan Information Minister Ahmed Taib Benhima told newsmen "you can expect a decisive turn of events in the next 24 hours." He did not elaborate, but his statement was widely regarded as confirmation of reports that a compromise between Morocco and Spain was in the making.

By official Moroccan count, 99,000 volunteers had crossed the border by nightfall Friday. This total presumably included the new column which apparently tried to circumvent the Spanish minefields south of Tarfaya.

Moroccan officials said they have maintained close communications throughout the crisis with Spanish officers of Tarfaya.

troops guarding the "dissuasion line" of barbed wire and landmine warnings some six miles beyond the border near Tarfaya.

The new group of volunteers — said by officials to number "tens of thousands" — was taken by truck along a winding, 155-mile desert trail from the base camp at Tarfaya to a point on the border due south of the desert outpost of Abbathe.

From there, officials said, they moved down a dried-up river bed in the direction of the Spanish Sahara capital of El Aaiun. There was no immediate indication how far they advanced.

The first group of marchers on the direct 60-mile-long road from Tarfaya to El Aaiun bivouacked for the second night on Spanish territory, some 2 1/2 miles from the military defense line. They were joined during the day by new contingents arriving from Tarfaya, but officials here gave no details of their numbers beyond the overall total of 99,000 said to have crossed the border.

Sources said the second group of marchers crossed the border at a point nearly halfway from Tarfaya to the Algerian border. Algeria — which seeks independence for the Spanish Sahara — was the prime mover in attempts to block the march.

In New York, the United Nations Security Council "deplored" the march but did not condemn it as Algeria had demanded. In backstage parleys, the United States and France were reported to have insisted that the earlier draft resolution be toned down.

The resolution as adopted called on Hassan to withdraw the marchers to Moroccan territory forthwith. The opening of a "second front" indicated that the king had no intention of obeying what Moroccan officials called a biased and one-sided demand.

Morocco insists the Spanish Sahara — containing one of the largest known phosphate deposits — was under traditional Moroccan sovereignty when it was occupied by Spain in 1884. The Moroccans consider Spanish and Algerian demands for "self-determination" of the thinly populated area as an attack on Morocco's "territorial integrity."

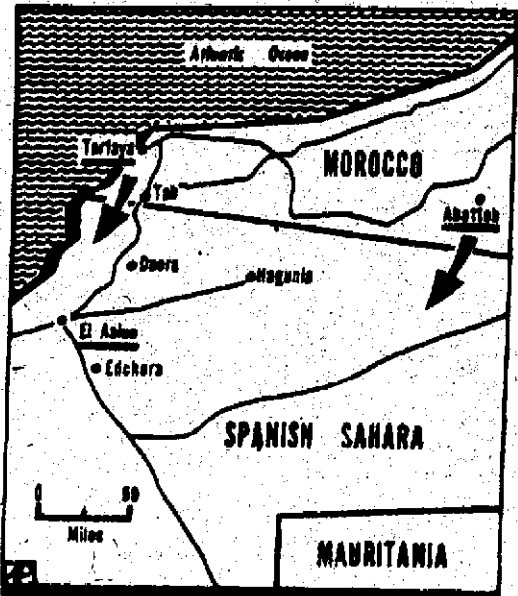

Hassan has pledged to prevent a referendum among the territory's estimated 50,000 nomadic inhabitants. Some Moroccan sources suggested that a referendum which merely allows the Saharan population to ratify their annexation by Morocco and Mauritania — which claims the southernmost part of the territory — might be acceptable as a basis for compromise.

Moroccan Information Minister Benhima indicated that a statement made in Madrid Thursday by Information Minister Leon Herrera Esteban may be the first step to a compromise.

Esteban reiterated Spain's desire for "peace and tranquility" in the area, and expressed regret that the United Nations had failed to achieve this purpose.

"Spain did its best to fulfill its duty toward the population of the (Spanish Sahara) territory and toward the international community," Esteban said, according to a report of the official Moroccan news agency.

Benhima said he was "highly encouraged" by Esteban's statement, which preceded Caro's arrival in Agadir by a few hours.

'Archie' Reruns To Join Daytime TV Ratings Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — In what may prove daytime television's hottest ratings fight this season, Archie Bunker from CBS will take on the gang from NBC's "Another World" soap opera starting Dec. 1.

CBS set the stage for the fight Friday when it said "All in the Family," which has been clobbering its nighttime opposition since January 1971, will appear in reruns during the daytime Monday through Friday.

It said reruns of the hit half-hour situation comedy will start in December at 3 p.m. EST, the same time that NBC's "Another World," daytime television's first hour-long soap opera, regularly appears.

CBS also said it is making its half-hour "As the World Turns" soap opera, now in its 20th year, a regularly scheduled hour-long program, starting on Dec. 1.

It said the ratings success of NBC's "Another World" in the hour form was a definite factor in its decision to lengthen "As the World Turns."

CBS said that to make room for the Bunkers and its expanded soap opera, it is dropping "Give 'N Take," a game show, and "The Edge of Night," a soap opera now in its 20th year, from its schedule.

However, the venerable soap opera has found a new home and will remain on television.

ABC said it'll air a 90-minute premiere of the series on Dec. 1, and will present "The Edge of Night" in its usual half-hour form on weekdays from then on at 4 p.m. EST, Mondays through Fridays.

It said "You Don't Say," a game show now in that time period, will be taken off the air but may return, depending on possible daytime schedule changes later by ABC.

When CBS' "As the World Turns" becomes an hour-long program, it'll be the third soap opera of that length on daytime television.

NBC's "Another World" was the first to go to the hour-form on a daily basis, starting on Jan. 6 this year. On April 21, NBC also expanded "Days of Our Lives" from 30 to 60 minutes.

When "All in the Family"

daytime reruns begin in December, the show will be the second situation comedy to appear both during the day and night this season.

For several weeks, ABC has been broadcasting daily reruns of "Happy Days," a Tuesday night series.

However, such daytime reruns of popular situation comedies also aired one night a week aren't unprecedented, said Donald "Bud" Grant, head of CBS' daytime programming department.

He said NBC has done it, ABC currently is doing it and in the past CBS has aired daytime reruns of situation comedies ranging from the "Dick Van Dyke Show" to "Gomer Pyle" five days a week.

And he emphasized that putting reruns of "All in the Family" into CBS' daytime program lineup "should not be interpreted as a trend towards situation comedy reruns" in CBS' daytime schedule.

He said "All in the Family" reruns were put in the daytime schedule simply because the show is "rather a unique property. As a matter of fact, it's television's all-time hit."

Julie May Take Reagan's Place On Daily Radio Show

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower may take over Ronald Reagan's daily radio show if Reagan becomes a formal candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

If Reagan becomes a declared candidate, equal time rules will force him off the 320 stations which now broadcast his show.

Mrs. Eisenhower, 27, the daughter of former President Richard M. Nixon, is one of nine persons ranging from actor

John Wayne to U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater who are lined up to pitch-in for Reagan on the five-minute daily commentary show, the show's producer said Friday.

Producer Harry O'Connor also said he talked to Nixon Sept. 8 about a possible future radio show, and that Nixon was "genuinely interested" but won't be available for at least a year due to other commitments.

O'Connor said other personalities to substitute for Reagan include editor and commentator William F. Buckley Jr.; Reagan's daughter, Maureen; former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally; Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, former USS Pueblo commander; and Hollywood personalities Art Linkletter and Jack Webb.

Reagan has said he will announce before the end of this month whether he will oppose

President Ford for the GOP nomination.

O'Connor said that if Reagan does, he will use guest commentators for about a month before picking a permanent replacement for Reagan.

O'Connor said he has no idea who the permanent replacement might be, but Joe Scott in his Political Animal newsletter said Mrs. Eisenhower is first in line for the job.

Other broadcasting sources said Mrs. Eisenhower and Buckley possess the best combination of public recognition and on-the-air talent needed to continue the very profitable and widely used show.

O'Connor said Mrs. Eisenhower has already recorded five substitute shows for Reagan and that he hopes she "will record five shows while in China during a planned trip there this winter."

Spain, Morocco Huddling On Saharan Compromise

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

AGADIR, Morocco (AP) — Spanish and Moroccan ministers were reported working on a Saharan compromise today that would enable hundreds of thousands of unarmed Moroccans bivouacked on both sides of the Spanish Saharan border to go home.

One Moroccan official promised "a decisive turn of events in the next 24 hours."

Meanwhile, tens of thousands of Moroccan marchers opened a "second front" Friday some 120 miles east of their first crossing into Spanish Sahara the previous day.

Ernesto Caro, representing Spanish Premier Carlos Arias Navarro, flew unexpectedly to Morocco's temporary capital late Friday to resume high level negotiations on ending the confrontation. He was immediately received by Moroccan Foreign Minister Ahmed Laraki.

miles from the military defense line. They were joined during the day by new contingents arriving from Tarfaya, but officials here gave no details of their numbers beyond the overall total of 99,000 said to have crossed the border.

Sources said the second group of marchers crossed the border at a point nearly halfway from Tarfaya to the Algerian border. Algeria — which seeks independence for the Spanish Sahara — was the prime mover in attempts to block the march.

In New York, the United Nations Security Council "deplored" the march but did not condemn it as Algeria had demanded. In backstage parleys, the United States and France were reported to have insisted that the earlier draft resolution be toned down.

The resolution as adopted called on Hassan to withdraw the marchers to Moroccan territory forthwith. The opening of a "second front" indicated that the king had no intention of obeying what Moroccan officials called a biased and one-sided demand.

Morocco insists the Spanish Sahara — containing one of the largest known phosphate deposits — was under traditional Moroccan sovereignty when it was occupied by Spain in 1884. The Moroccans consider Spanish and Algerian demands for "self-determination" of the thinly populated area as an attack on Morocco's "territorial integrity."

Hassan has pledged to prevent a referendum among the territory's estimated 50,000 nomadic inhabitants. Some Moroccan sources suggested that a referendum which merely allows the Saharan population to ratify their annexation by Morocco and Mauritania — which claims the southernmost part of the territory — might be acceptable as a basis for compromise.

Moroccan Information Minister Benhima indicated that a statement made in Madrid Thursday by Information Minister Leon Herrera Esteban may be the first step to a compromise.

Esteban reiterated Spain's desire for "peace and tranquility" in the area, and expressed regret that the United Nations had failed to achieve this purpose.

"Spain did its best to fulfill its duty toward the population of the (Spanish Sahara) territory and toward the international community," Esteban said, according to a report of the official Moroccan news agency.

Benhima said he was "highly encouraged" by Esteban's statement, which preceded Caro's arrival in Agadir by a few hours.

'Archie' Reruns To Join Daytime TV Ratings Battle

NEW YORK (AP) — In what may prove daytime television's hottest ratings fight this season, Archie Bunker from CBS will take on the gang from NBC's "Another World" soap opera starting Dec. 1.

CBS set the stage for the fight Friday when it said "All in the Family," which has been clobbering its nighttime opposition since January 1971, will appear in reruns during the daytime Monday through Friday.

It said repeats of the hit half-hour situation comedy will start in December at 3 p.m. EST, the same time that NBC's "Another World," daytime television's first hour-long soap opera, regularly appears.

CBS also said it is making its half-hour "As the World Turns" soap opera, now in its 20th year, a regularly scheduled hour-long program, starting on Dec. 1.

It said the ratings success of NBC's "Another World" in the hour form was a definite factor in its decision to lengthen "As the World Turns."

CBS said that to make room for the Bunkers and its expanded soap opera, it is dropping "Give 'N Tame," a game show, and "The Edge of Night," a soap opera now in its 20th year, from its schedule.

However, the venerable soap opera has found a new home and will remain on television.

ABC said it'll air a 90-minute premiere of the series on Dec. 1, and will present "The Edge of Night" in its usual half-hour form on weekdays from then on at 4 p.m. EST, Mondays through Fridays.

It said "You Don't Say," a game show now in that time period, will be taken off the air but may return, depending on possible daytime schedule changes later by ABC.

When CBS' "As the World Turns" becomes an hour-long program, it'll be the third soap opera of that length on daytime television.

NBC's "Another World" was the first to go to the hour-form on a daily basis, starting on Jan. 6 this year. On April 21, NBC also expanded "Days of Our Lives" from 30 to 60 minutes.

When "All in the Family"

daytime reruns begin in December, the show will be the second situation comedy to appear both during the day and night this season.

For several weeks, ABC has been broadcasting daily repeats of "Happy Days," a Tuesday night series.

However, such daytime repeats of popular situation comedies also aired one night a week aren't unprecedented, said Donald "Bud" Grant, head of CBS' daytime programming department.

He said NBC has done it. ABC currently is doing it and in the past CBS has aired daytime repeats of situation comedies ranging from the "Dick Van Dyke Show" to "Gomer Pyle" five days a week.

And he emphasized that putting reruns of "All in the Family" into CBS' daytime program lineup "should not be interpreted as a trend towards situation comedy reruns" in CBS' daytime schedule.

He said "All in the Family" reruns were put in the daytime schedule simply because the show is "rather a unique property. As a matter of fact, it's television's all-time hit."

Julie May Take Reagan's Place On Daily Radio Show

By DOUG WILLIS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Julie Nixon Eisenhower may take over Ronald Reagan's daily radio show if Reagan becomes a formal candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

If Reagan becomes a declared candidate, equal time rules will force him off the 320 stations which now broadcast his show.

Mrs. Eisenhower, 27, the daughter of former President Richard M. Nixon, is one of nine persons ranging from actor

John Wayne to U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater who are lined up to pinch-hit for Reagan on the five-minute daily commentary show, the show's producer said Friday.

Producer Harry O'Connor also said he talked to Nixon Sept. 9 about a possible future radio show and that Nixon was "genuinely interested" but won't be available for at least a year due to other commitments.

O'Connor said other personalities to substitute for Reagan include editor and commentator William F. Buckley Jr.; Reagan's daughter, Maureen; former Secretary of the Treasury John Connally;

Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, former USS Pueblo commander; and Hollywood personalities Art Linkletter and Jack Webb.

Reagan has said he will announce before the end of this month whether he will oppose

President Ford for the GOP nomination.

O'Connor said that if Reagan does, he will use guest commentators for about a month before picking a permanent replacement for Reagan.

O'Connor said he has no idea who the permanent replacement might be, but Joe Scott in his Political Animal newsletter said Mrs. Eisenhower is first in line for the job.

Other broadcasting sources said Mrs. Eisenhower and Buckley possess the best combination of public recognition and on-the-air talent needed to continue the very profitable and widely used show.

O'Connor said Mrs. Eisenhower has already recorded five substitute shows for Reagan and that he hopes she "will record five shows while in China during a planned trip there this winter."

Bond Costs Going Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York City's fiscal crisis is increasing by $155 million a year the costs all cities and states must pay to borrow money, a group of municipal officials says. A study by the Municipal Finance Officers Association says the Northeast has been hit the hardest, but the ripple effect from the New York crisis has affected all parts of the country.

Air Fares Going Up Next Week

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Domestic air fares will go up 3 per cent next week to give airlines added revenue to meet escalating fuel costs.

The Civil Aeronautics Board voted Friday to authorize the higher fares — the first increase since a boost of 4 per cent a year ago.

The new increase means that the one-way coach fare from New York to Chicago will increase from $72 to $74, from Los Angeles to Washington from $173 to $179, from Chicago to Denver from $83 to $85 and from Washington to New Orleans from $88 to $90.65.

There will be some rounding off of the increases, so they will not in all cases amount to precisely 3 per cent.

The 10 domestic trunkline and eight regional carriers affected have had rate increase petitions pending for months. In September, the CAB denied them authority to raise fares by amounts between 3.5 and 5 per cent.

Airlines have complained that the CAB's rate-making procedures have failed to keep pace with their rising costs. They estimate that they have been penalized by $500 million in added fuel costs alone.

No other formal requests for higher fares are now before the board, but some filings are likely in the near future. Chairman Charles Tillinghast of Trans World Airways said a further increase of 8 to 10 per cent is required to keep the industry solvent.

The CAB rejected a complaint filed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and other members of Congress, who called for a full investigation of the effect a fare boost would have on airline traffic.

"The proposed 3 per cent fare increase is justified," the CAB order said. "No argument has been advanced that an increase in revenue is not needed to offset experienced increases in airline costs.... The fact that a fare increase might temporarily depress revenues would not warrant disapproval if the increase were necessary to cover the unit cost of operations."

The CAB said, "Failure to permit such increases would in the long run result either in an insufficient level of earnings for the carriers or an inadequate level of service to the public."

Our precious son and brother

It was just one year ago today. Our precious son passed away. It was on a Saturday just before dawn. God sent an angel to carry him home.

You left us sweet memories. We hold so dear. And we hold on to them as the years pass by. For only God knows the grief in our heart of loving a son, then have to part.

This was the way it had to be. You left one sister, dad, and me. And together again one day we'll be, to live with Christ for ever "our family."

IN LOVING MEMORY

LARRY E. DECKER
Who left us Nov. 9, 1974
Our precious son and brother
It was just one year ago today. Our precious son passed away. It was on a Saturday just before dawn. God sent an angel to carry him home.

You left us sweet memories. We hold so dear. And we hold on to them as if you were here. For only God knows the grief in our heart of loving a son, then have to part.

This was the way it had to be. You left one sister, dad, and me. And together again one day we'll be, to live with Christ for ever "our family."

Bangor Citizens Panel Elects New Officers

BANGOR — A citizens committee looking into Bangor school problems has elected new officers, according to an announcement issued by the group.

Also, three of the 12-member group, which is known as the blue ribbon fact-finding committee, submitted their resignations at the group's weekly meeting, the announcement said.

Norman Johnson, a teacher at Bangor high school, was elected chairman of the group, replacing Paul French, a certified public accountant and frequent critic of the Bangor schools.

Mrs. Peggy Phillips, a school board member, was elected co-chairman, replacing Duane Goss, who was one of the three submitting resignations. Goss is employed with the state fire marshal's office.

Two weeks ago, Goss had called for the resignation of French because of his involvement with another group seeking to force a recall election of five school board members.

Last week, a resolution before the fact-finding committee calling for the resignation of French was defeated by a 7 to 2 vote.

Earlier that week, French resigned from the recall committee and announced he would continue working with the blue ribbon fact finding committee.

The other two resignations came from David Walton, president of Du-Wel Industries, Bangor, and Charles McNary, pastor of the Simpson United Methodist church, Bangor.

Tom Betz will still act as secretary for the group, the announcement said.

A letter will be sent from the committee to the Bangor Education association and to the school board officially notifying the two bodies of the resignations, the release said.

Both bodies will be asked to submit nominations for replacements within 10 days.

In other business, the committee decided to hold a public meeting on community education. A tentative date has been set for Nov. 18, the release said. A film and discussion will be offered at the meeting.

SEWAGE PLANT

Dowagiac Bids Over Estimates

DOWAGIAC, Mich. (AP) — Twelve bids opened Thursday for the Dowagiac wastewater treatment plant expansion all were more than the $3.4 million the city has secured for the project.

City officials today were asking for additional money from the federal Environmental Protection Agency to offset the increase.

The lowest bid was $3,508,000 for construction, submitted by Solitt Construction company, South Bend, Ind. The high bid for construction was $4,235,469, submitted by Whitaker Construction, Kalamazoo. The original proposal submitted to the EPA nine months ago was for costs of $3.1 million for construction and $400,000 for engineering. The city secured money for the project from federal government, the state and a loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

The Dowagiac city manager said inflation during the nine months from the time the city submitted the proposal to the EPA to the time it came back approved caused the bids to increase to more money than the city has on hand.

The high bid for construction was $4,235,469, submitted by Whitaker Construction, Kalamazoo. The original proposal submitted to the EPA nine months ago was for costs of $3.1 million for construction and $400,000 for engineering.

The city secured money for the project from federal government, the state and a loan from the Farmers Home Administration.

The Dowagiac city manager said inflation during the nine months from the time the city submitted the proposal to the EPA to the time it came back approved caused the bids to increase to more money than the city has on hand.

200 Years Ago Today

On Nov. 8, 1775, the General Assembly of Rhode Island deposed Royal Governor Wanton for unpatriotic activities. He was exiled from the colony.

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR RICHARD THOMAS, star of "The Waltons"
If you hadn't taken up acting, what would you have done?—Mrs. Alfred Thompson, Danielville, Ga.

● I probably would have spent the rest of my life wondering which hobby I should turn into a career. I write (poetry and screenplays), study languages (after I've mastered Chinese I'm going to tackle Persian), and am interested in photography and politics. I also like to breed and raise dogs. And there was always the possibility of my becoming a ballet dancer (both my parents are). Look what a headache I saved myself by becoming an actor!

FOR LEON JAWORSKI, Watergate prosecutor

What did Watergate cost the taxpayers?—Larry Strozewski, La Salle, Ill.

● I can't estimate in dollars and cents, but it's certainly a small one compared to the respect citizens of our country now have for the judicial process: Had the institutions of our government not discharged their responsibilities, that result could not have been measured in dollars and cents, either.

FOR TAWNY ELAINE GODIN, Miss America 1976

What did you say to the newswoman who referred to you as "just a chunk of meat"?—N.S., Green Bay, Wis.

● That was during a press conference on the Monday after I won the title. I said, "If I were just a chunk of meat, you wouldn't be here interviewing me."

FOR GORDIE HOWE, hockey star

You've felt a lot of pain in your 43 years. How did you feel about Bill Walton's refusal to play while hurt in Portland last season?—Richard Ryan, North Tonawanda, N.Y.

● Like any other athlete my age, I hurt every day. Jack Adams, my first coach at Detroit, used to say, "I don't ask you to play with injuries, just with pain." Walton is lucky he's been treated as well as he has by Portland's management.

FOR JEAN STAPLETON, star of "All in the Family"

Does working in the series make you tense? If so, how do you calm yourself down?—N.S., Green Bay, Wis.

● Yes, there's a pressure in all jobs. If I ever feel really rattled, I tour my house to see what needs to be done. Some people might not agree, but I find it relaxing to get down on my hands and knees and scrub the kitchen floor at 1 A.M.

FOR BARBARA BAIN, star of "Space: 1999"

How do your children feel about your love scenes with others?—H.B., Fort Smith, Ark.

● If I get into a clench with another man, Susie and Julie don't bat an eyelid. But if Marty (husband Martin Landau) goes into a passionate embrace with another woman, the first thing the girls ask him is "Was that really in the script?"

FOR LYNN REDGRAVE, star of "The Happy Hooker"

You seem to spend more time in this country than you do in your own. Why?—R.J., Huntington, W. Va.

● Two reasons: my husband and my work. John (he's an American citizen) doesn't like living in England. I grew to love America when I first came here about 10 years ago to be on Broadway. We both miss the U.S. when we're away, so we compromised and bought a home overlooking the Irish Sea, nine miles from Dublin. We're gradually making our way westward! And I'll be back on Broadway at the end of the year.

FOR JOHN WAYNE

I saw your footprints in the cement at Grauman's Chinese Theater in Hollywood, and was surprised—they seem so small! Are they really yours?—A.S., Sacramento, Calif.

● Those sure are my marks in the cement. People don't realize that Western boots have heels that slant forward. That's what makes the imprint seem so small. I take a size 10½D shoe.

FOR MORLEY SAFER of "60 Minutes"

Wasn't it unfair for you to question Mrs. Gerald Ford on such a controversial matter as the possibility of Susan's having an affair?—Mrs. J.B., Amherst, N.Y.

● The interview was just a conversation between two adults concerning subjects that adults, particularly parents, talk about. Mrs. Ford didn't feel the questions were unfair. Indeed, even after the controversy broke out, nobody at the White House complained about the questions.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR

Why are all those beauty contest queens so stuck up?—J.B., Los Angeles, Calif.

● According to Karen Margaret Petersen, the outgoing Miss Teenage America, you've got it wrong. She says, "Guys think there's no use asking you out. 'She's too good for me,' they say and they don't try to make a pitch." She claims this impression is all wrong. It didn't bother her, though, since she has a steady boyfriend. But she did pass on this tip to this year's contestants (Miss Teenage America will be crowned November 15 on NBC-TV): "We're not goddesses. We want to be brought down to earth, not held high on a pedestal." And there are sides to these winners that people don't know about. Karen said: "I love tear-jerkers, I'm a romanticist at heart. . . . I always go to Mom for advice, she has the best answers. . . . Celebrities aren't that fascinating; they're just normal people with household names."

Proud

I am a Marine. In the 200th year of the Marine Corps. I salute those first few men who, in the winter of 1775, began a military legend. And all who followed in their footsteps. Had they not been the men they were, I could not be the man I am: a United States Marine.

That is where I stand. If there are a few good men who want to stand with me... 200 years proud... let them do as I did. Accept a challenge... earn the title: Marine.

How to Keep a Job When the Going Is Tough

You are not alone if you sometimes worry about keeping your job. A certain amount of low-level "job anxiety" is probably normal for most people. "Is my boss really satisfied with my work?" "Is anything going on in the company that might threaten my position?" These are thoughts that flit through people's minds even in good times. When unemployment climbs, worries increase.

To help you strengthen your hold on your job, FAMILY WEEKLY has questioned three experts who are leaders in understanding "boss psychology." We asked these men:

(1) What can people do to make themselves and their jobs look "necessary" when business is bad and job cutbacks are contemplated?

(2) How can you protect your job when you have a new boss?

(3) Even when things appear to be all right, how do you maintain and strengthen your position in your boss's eyes?

Dr. Ernest Dichter, consulting psychologist, told us, "There are two keys. If you use them, there won't be any need to worry about who is going to take your job.

"Psychologically, it is well known that tactful flattery, which is never refused by anyone, is best transmitted by imitation. What are some of the special ways that your boss organizes his or her desk, work station or office? What is his or her approach when tackling a problem? Have you ever really paid attention? Does your boss have some special phrases, approaches, business methods? If you know how to reflect almost a duplicate image of some unique aspects of your boss's way of doing things, you have a good start toward presenting yourself in a way that will get your boss to like you and your work. This is how it works: Suppose you're a salesperson. Tomorrow your supervisor will be traveling with you. What are some approaches, phrases, key selling points that he uses about your product? If you use his selling points and his key phrases, he's got to feel good about you because you're using his approach. Even if you don't land the order, his reaction will be, 'Ah, it was a lousy prospect, anyway.'

"The second necessity is learning how to get feedback from your boss. Only through listening carefully to feedback can you keep track of what your boss is thinking. Then you can constantly adjust your performance. Without feedback, you're only guessing. Again, let's take the salesperson who's just completed a call, whether it's a sale or not. Instead of waiting anxiously for direct comments, get feedback by coming right out and asking, 'Okay, how did I do?' Even if you got the order say, 'Glad we got it. But what part of the visit should I look more closely at?' Whatever your work, by actively asking for feedback, you're finding out what your boss wants. At the same time you're demonstrating a desire to constantly improve, which is also bound to please."

Charles C. Vance, our second expert, told us that when a new boss appears, it's job suicide to start stabbing your old boss in the back; or to tell the new boss—or in any way make him feel—that you hoped to get the job and you're disappointed it went to her or him. It is also dangerous to give the new

SPECIAL, LIMITED OFFER FOR READERS OF FAMILY WEEKLY

TRUE-TO-LIFE SIMULATIONS OF

(SET IN 14 KARAT GOLD ELECTROPLATE)

FINAL Christmas Offer

NOTICE: Due to rising costs of gold, base metals and labor, this offer may never be repeated again.

$5

(WHEN YOU SEND COUPON)

NOTICE — CONDITIONS OF THIS FINAL OFFER

Now any reader of Family Weekly has the right to buy any of the magnificent rings illustrated for only $5 — provided these instructions are faithfully followed:

(1) Rush order in 10 days or less if possible. (2) No C.O.D. orders. If in Florida, do visit our showrooms. Otherwise order by mail. Send coupon with check, cash, or charge to BankAmericard or Master Charge. This FINAL OFFER will not be repeated to readers this season. Please order at once. Orders received too late returned promptly.

The FREE HOME TRIAL COUPON below entitles you to wear and enjoy any or all of the golden beauties shown — without risking 1¢. Take your pick, then clip the pictures of your favorites and rush them with coupon below. Each ring has a grand total of 100 points or better of famous KRYSTAGEMS — amazing man-made stones that rival nature-made diamonds costing up to $1250 or more!

AMAZE YOUR FRIENDS

We'll gladly rush all the rings you choose right to your door, so you can compare them with costly diamond rings. But please do us a favor. When they arrive, let your friends look. See how surprised they'll be and maybe a little envious too! Practically anyone seeing Krystagems wishes he could afford one too. Little does he know it isn't a genuine diamond! That's because Krystagems aren't phoney looking plastic stones. Now you can prove the difference with the following test:

(A) Drop Krystagem and any plastic "diamond" in a cupful of acetone. (B) Next day remove both stones. The fake plastic "diamond" has become mushy and worthless. But Krystagem comes out gleaming — without a scratch. (C) Study the facets on Krystagem. How precisely they're cut! Virtually like costliest diamonds! That's why Krystagems sparkle even in dim moonlight. You're sure to love this creation of the crafty jewel simulator. It's so hard, so dense, so free from specks and flaws!

NOW LESS THAN 1¢ ON DOLLAR!

Just because Krystagem now costs only

DELIVERY BEFORE CHRISTMAS GUARANTEED

We've put on twice as many workers to ensure delivery to our friends in all 50 states. All orders shipped by expensive but fast First Class Mail. Delivery before Christmas guaranteed, but please rush coupon before December 12th. Thank you and Merry Christmas to you and your loved ones!

THE KRYSTAGEM FOLKS

If you do not know ring size, do this to ensure perfect fit:

1. Cut straight strip of paper 3 inches long and about 1/4 inch in width.
2. Wrap paper strip around finger on which ring is worn. Then place a mark on strip where it meets the end.

3. Now place mark on strip of paper at point "A" on Ring Guide. The number at end of strip is correct ring size. Write size in coupon. We guarantee perfect fit!

$5 — don't mistake it for dull, plastic fakes. Of course, Krystagem is different from a nature-made diamond. But the nicest difference is that you can get it for $5 — not $1250 or more!

WHY DO MILLIONAIRES WEAR SIMULATED DIAMONDS?

Many millionaires and movie stars wear simulated diamonds — but keep the secret from the public. Think of this: those "genuine" diamonds your neighbors show off at parties may not be so genuine after all! Krystagems look so realistic, only an expert can tell them from diamonds. Many wealthy persons keep expensive diamonds in a bank safe and wear simulations to avoid burglary or loss.

GREAT GIFT FOR A SPECIAL PERSON

Can you think of a greater gift for that Someone Special — a gift that costs less than a fine box of chocolates or bottle of perfume? Krystagems really make lovely presents. Ideal for Christmas, anniversary or graduation... or just an expression of your love. He or she will probably never know that Krystagem is not a natural diamond — unless you tell!

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Back!

You don't risk a single penny! Test it. Wear it 30 days. If not 100% satisfied, return and get your $5 back by return mail! Stocks definitely limited. To avoid disappointment, please tear out coupon and rush today — by AIR MAIL if possible.

Keeping A Job

people "an earful of gossip" about other members of your group, or to stay away from the new people and wait for them to make the first move toward friendliness.

"Actions such as these," says Vance, "set you up in your superior's mind as a troublemaker. But there are positive things you should be doing.

"Hand the new boss your job description, complete with an updating of your assignments for the last six months. How can bosses judge your competence if they don't know what

"Prepare a brief biography of yourself. In less than a page, tell how long you've been with the company and the positions you've held, responsibilities, previous work experience, education, membership in business groups. Include the selling points that show the boss you're active, involved and competent.

"Help the new boss 'learn the ropes' by saying, 'If I can be of any help in showing you where things are or the procedures that have been followed, please let me know.' But give the boss time—don't push yourself into his territory. When he does ask for help, be brief and businesslike.

"Remember you're a question mark to the new boss," says Vance. "You must sell yourself and your capability. But not too hard or too fast. Trying to be an 'instant buddy' to your new supervisor can backfire!

"All businesses have sweet and sour times. When your area is facing the job crunch, a jittery management wants visual reassurance that its people are working hard. The key words here are visual reassurance. Report to work early. Stay at your work station instead of visiting around. Be busy all day. If you don't have enough work, make some. If you feel it can be done within the frame of your job, ask your boss for more assignments. Cut out coffee breaks, or take coffee to your desk and drink it while you work.

Put in some overtime. A half hour every other evening will help. Take work home once or twice a week—and let your boss know it. Take a shorter lunch break. Brown-bag at your desk when you can. All this is 'visual reassurance' to your boss. Also, for all businesses, the name of the game is still profit. Show your boss you are cost-and-profit-conscious!"

Eli Djedjah, our third employment expert, makes a point so simple, yet so fundamental, that many of us may overlook it: "The best way to get any boss to realize you're a competent worker is simply to be one. If you hate your job, can't stand the people you work with and don't want to tackle the problems the job produces, why should a boss value you? And why should you struggle to stay?

"With a new boss, don't fight changes. The new superior is feeling pressured by new responsibilities. He will be highly sensitive to criticism almost to the point of paranoia.

"When a problem arises that should be brought to your supervisor's attention, never discuss the problem unless you have solutions. Dumping problems on bosses without solutions makes them wonder what use you are to them. Go to your boss and say, 'A problem has developed that I think you would want to know about. Here are some possible solutions that I've evaluated according to their strengths and weaknesses. Could I have your advice?' When you let the boss choose, you've accomplished your end. Unless you've been utterly stupid with your solutions, the boss will like you because you're allowing his superior judgment to save the day. Now if the chosen solution turns out wrong, your boss must share the responsibility. But if it works, you've done your job well."

Djedjah explains that understanding the real power lines of your place of employment is essential. Sometimes a person who carries no title has more influence on your job future than a vice president. This is a long process of listening and observing.

When business is bad, Djedjah cautions against pushing for egocentric gains. Don't ask for a salary increase, an extended vacation, more help to do your job or even for a new desk blotter. And strive always to make yourself a pleasant co-worker. He states that it is a fact of business life that people lose their jobs more quickly because of personality conflicts than because of incompetence.

Overall, each of the ideas our experts offered are valuable ways to eliminate your anxiety about how you're coming across to your superior. By using the guidelines intelligently, you'll be strengthening your hold on your job.

Smart Cooking Day Before Payday

This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen makes a substantial soup the basis of a family supper. "This recipe is easy to make," says Marilyn. "It contains an appealing mixture of vegetables with pimiento added for color. A bit of bacon provides the salty-smoky just-right chowder flavor."

A Thick Chowder With the Smoky Taste of Bacon

Sleaming Hearty Vegetable Chowder is a cheap, nutritious supper for a hungry family.

HEARTY VEGETABLE CHOWDER

- 1/4 lb. bacon, coarsely chopped
- 2 cups boiling water
- 1/2 cup thinly sliced onion
- 1 cup diagonally sliced celery
- 1 cup diced potatoes
- 1 cup thinly sliced carrots
- 1 cup cut green beans
- 1 can (17 oz.) whole kernel corn, drained
- 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 1 bay leaf
- 2 cups evaporated milk, undiluted, or light cream
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1/4 cup water
- 1 jar (4 oz.) or can pimientos, undrained, coarsely chopped

1. In 3- to 4-qt. saucepan, fry bacon until crisp. Scoop out bacon with slotted spoon and drain on paper towels.
2. Add boiling water, onion, celery, potatoes, carrots, beans, corn, garlic powder, salt and bay leaf to bacon drippings. Stir; heat to boiling, reduce heat, cover and boil slowly about 20 minutes or until vegetables are tender.
3. Stir in evaporated milk. Blend flour and water smoothly, stir into soup.
4. Add pimientos. Return to boiling, reduce heat, cover and simmer for 5 minutes.

Makes about 2 qts.

CORN ONION MUFFINS

- 1 cup yellow corn meal
- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup milk
- 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 egg

1. Heat oven to 425°F. Grease an 8 x 8 x 2-inch or 9 x 9 x 2-inch pan. Or grease 12 medium muffin cups.
2. In medium bowl, blend all ingredients about 20 seconds. Beat hard one minute. Pour into prepared pan. If using muffin pans, fill two-thirds full.
3. Bake corn bread about 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Bake corn muffins about 15 minutes or until golden. Makes 1 square corn bread or 12 muffins

FALL FRUIT SALAD

- Crisp lettuce leaves
- 1 can (30 oz.) cling peach halves, drained
- 1 can (30 oz.) pear halves, drained
- 2 Delicious apples, cored and cut into eighths
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 lb. Tokay grapes, cut in clusters
- 1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, room temperature
- 1 cup salad dressing or mayonnaise
- 1/2 cup peach syrup
- dash salt
- 1 teaspoon poppy seeds, optional

1. Arrange crisp lettuce leaves in serving bowl. Alternate peach halves and pear halves in a circle on greens. Reserve 1/2 cup peach syrup.
2. Dip apple slices in lemon juice and tuck here and there between peaches and pears. Place grapes in center.
3. In small bowl, beat cream cheese until soft and creamy. Blend in salad dressing smoothly. Gradually add peach syrup. Stir until blended. Add salt and poppy seeds. Refrigerate both salad and cream cheese dressing if not serving immediately.

Makes 6 servings

What's Smart: You can save money two ways by preparing this main-dish soup. First, you get flavor at low cost by using just a small amount of bacon. Second, canned evaporated milk is cheaper than fresh milk. The Fall Fruit Salad uses canned peaches and pears, which are in good supply now, plus autumn-fresh apples and grapes. This dish combines both salad and dessert in one.

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

Hidden Reasons
Why People Get Headaches

True or False? Some people get a headache every time they eat a chocolate bar. (See number 3.)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. Most headaches are caused by the people around you—or your reaction to them.
2. Most common headaches go hand in hand with a sense of insecurity and feelings of anxiety.
3. Some people get a headache every time they eat a chocolate bar.
4. Women have more headaches than men.
5. People who suffer from migraine headaches tend to have specific personality traits in common.
6. It's possible to ward off a migraine headache if you catch it in time.

ANSWERS

1. True. As a Mayo Clinic expert observes, the vast majority of headaches fall into two categories: the muscle-contraction or tension headache and the vascular or migraine variety, or a combination of these two types. Emotional conflicts triggered by friends, relatives or co-workers have been found to be significant factors in headaches of both types. Of course, when headaches persist, a physical examination is in order, for it could be a symptom of a more serious disorder.
2. True. Studies show that anxiety and insecurity often lead to "increased contraction of skeletal muscles in the head and neck and produce the condition referred to as muscle-contraction or tension headache." These headaches gradually diminish as the individual appreciates what causes them and is able to relax.
3. True—but chocolate itself is rarely the villain. A team of investigators in England, at London Hospital's Section of Neurological Sciences, made a study of a sample of hundreds of subjects who stated they were "unable to eat even small quantities of chocolate without suffering from headache." In the study, subjects were given samples of chocolate and "fake" chocolate to eat. Many reported headaches after eating the fake chocolate as well as the real chocolate. Many experienced no headache at all after eating each of the samples. Only two subjects consistently experienced headaches each time they ate the real chocolate. The investigators concluded that chocolate on its own is rarely the cause of headache. The causes are more apt to be stress and various dietary factors.

4. True. A survey of the general population has shown that women definitely do have more headaches than men. Also, research at the University of Kansas Medical Center has shown that in addition to a higher incidence of headaches, women tend to have more severe headaches than men.

5. True. Dr. Charles D. Aring, chairman of the department of neurology at University of Cincinnati's College of Medicine, who has made a study of the matter, reports that "Persons with migraine, almost without exception, are intelligent. Generally they are tense, striving, orderly, overly conscientious, and meticulous in performance and in their requirements of others. And they tend to become immersed in details. It is also interesting to note in this connection that a personality profile, taken from the medical histories of over 1,400 headache sufferers, showed a higher-than-average intellectual level and a strong ego."

6. True—according to U.S. Public Health studies, which reported that people frequently "experience a warning of the impending migraine headache, such as streaks of light or other 'fireworks' of vision, numbness, tingling and perhaps nausea." This warning allows the individual to lie down as soon as possible in a dark room or to take the medicine his doctor has prescribed. Also, people may be able to avoid migraine headaches by changing their behavior. Studies show that the tendency to overreact to the stresses and strains of everyday life is a chief factor in predisposing a person to migraine. This evidence suggests that efforts to control and modify one's reaction to things would help to avoid migraine.

JIM PLUNKETT:

He's Given the Lie to the "Heisman Hex"

The New England Patriots' Jim Plunkett has given the lie to the legend that winners of the Heisman Trophy fall on their faces in the pro game. Plunkett, a former Stanford

All-American, has been the key in the transformation of the Patriots from N.F.L. doormat to championship contender. A 6-foot-2 Mexican-American, Plunkett's success story reads like a Hollywood script. His parents were both blind. While growing up in San Jose, Calif., Plunkett worked long hours delivering papers and pumping gas in a service station to help support the family. But he was a natural athlete. At age 14, he could throw a football 65 yards. After his first year in college, Plunkett was sidelined by a thyroid operation that threatened to end his athletic career. His coach suggested he give up quarterbacking. To build his strength, Plunkett began throwing 500 to 1,000 passes a day. Finally regaining his quarterback slot, he went on to break a long string of college, conference and national passing records. Plunkett was the Number-1 draft choice for New England in 1971, but his performance during the first few years as a pro was mixed, lending some credence to the theory of a "Heisman hex." "Things went bad particularly in my second year and I got down on myself mentally," he recalls. "But then I learned not to worry and brood about past failures and to concentrate on the day's performance. I learned how to take things calmly and it made a great deal of difference to me."—By Barry Abramson

Johnny Nash: My Ten Favorite Records

Johnny Nash didn't rush into show business—he waited until he was four. He made his debut in Houston, his hometown, in a Christmas pageant, earning "adequate reviews." This is what has happened since that debut: At age 16, he responded to a Houston newspaper ad seeking contestants for the "Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts" program. He quickly became the youngest member of the show and earned a seven-year engagement. Johnny's career took a significant turn when he toured the Caribbean after his movie debut in "Take a Giant Step." He fell in love with Jamaican music and began making records there. His first, "Hold Me Tight," was a smash hit. In 1971 he signed with Epic Records, and his new album, "Tears on My Pillow," looks like another hit.

RICH: Sure. People would get likkered up, and it wasn't unusual for someone to get killed. There was a battle of some kind at least every other night.

FW: I understand you had quite a drinking problem at one time. How did it get started?

RICH: I had my first drink when I was about 15. I think it was some kind of wine. When I was in the Air Force, I started drinking Scotch and water, nothin' else. And, of course, when I played in all those joints, I drank whenever I performed.

FW: Is it true that your wife left you because of your drinking?

RICH: Well, I suppose I did drink more than she liked. But I still think it's better than drugs, and believe me, I've seen it all. I once had a guitar player who was hooked on heroin, and I didn't even know it. I don't care a thing for grass, and I would never put a needle in my arm! But in those days, I thought the drunker I got, the better I was. You almost had to get stoned to play in some of those joints.

FW: But did your wife leave you because of your drinking?

RICH: Well, she certainly didn't like it. But it wasn't just that. You see, after the Air Force I went into the "family farm," but I decided I didn't like it. By that time we had three children (we have four now), and it was hard to get work. When I was in the service, I was stationed at Enid, Okla., and played in a jazz band. At night I'd play with a small combo in town. My wife, Margaret Ann, was the featured vocalist, so we were doing all right. We had a nice duplex to live in and had plenty to eat. Only on rare occasions did we have to borrow money. After I got out of the service, I went to Memphis to do my music. Margaret Ann decided it wasn't cool. I know it wasn't, but it was the best I could do. So she packed up the kids and went to live with her parents. I had to stay in Memphis. At least, until I decided to go to Vegas to better myself.

FW: You just went—without a job?

RICH: A guy told me he had some connections out there. But I never got that far. I took off in one of those deals where you drive a car for someone else, and got as far as Little Rock. Margaret Ann had been gone two or three weeks by then, and I decided I'd gone far enough. I called Margaret Ann and told her I was so broke, I didn't even have enough money to pay my bill at the Y.M.C.A. She came for me and had to help sneak me out. We've been together ever since.

FW: Have you licked your drinking problem?

RICH: Sure.

FW: How?

RICH: I went to a hospital in Memphis for two weeks and talked to a psychiatrist a lot, then I stopped totally.

FW: How did you and Margaret Ann meet in the first place?

RICH: In the seventh grade. We were in the same class. I always did like brunette girls.

FW: From what I've read you must have had a tough time as a boy.

RICH: I was born in the Depression, but it never really was that hard. Dad worked for the Highway Department, and then had a chance to get into farming when I was six, and he took it. He bought a small farm and had two farm hands. It taught me one thing—believe in land! If you buy in the right place, it can't be beat. I grew up on a farm, the greatest place in the world to grow up, and it did something to me. Space to roam around. Privacy. Field hands singing. It's romantic and the best thing that ever happened to me. I took it for granted as a kid, but I don't any more. I have some farm land now, with cattle on it, outside Memphis. I wanted to get into cotton and soybeans, things I knew. But I'm out of touch with it now. I don't want to be a farmer any more. I want to lie back and relax.

I RECOMMEND BULLWORKER®

BECAUSE
IT'S EASY AND IT REALLY WORKS!

Most men know they're not getting enough exercise to keep their bodies in good shape.

My experience as a fitness coach has taught me that most men will not continue with a regular training program long enough for it to do them any good unless the training is fast, easy and shows results right away.

Bullworker training gets a top score on all three counts:

—It's fast: each exercise takes only 7 seconds and the complete workout can be done in about 5 minutes

—It's easy: almost any man between 15 and 65 in good general health can run through the full program without getting tired

—you see your improvement right from the very first day on the built-in Powermeter. After about two or three weeks of regular training, most men can measure an extra inch or two of muscle on the shoulders, the chest, the biceps—and an inch or two less flab around the waistline.

And that's just the beginning: there are specialized exercises for building-up or trimming down any part of your body you want to: arms, back, shoulders, chest, waist and legs. What's more, since Bullworker training is progressive, you perform better each time. Yet the training always seems easy since with every work out your strength increases by about 1%—that's an increase of up to 50% in just three months, and I've seen many men go on to double and even triple their strength. In my opinion, Bullworker is the most advanced home trainer on the market today. I use it and recommend it to every man who wants to get back into shape fast.

The Rich Mr. Rich

FW: Have you seen much of the world?
RICH: There are people who love to travel, but I take after my father. He's dead now... died ten years ago. He had been to only three states in his whole life: Ohio, Tennessee and Arkansas. Maybe Texas. But he was always in a hurry to get home to his little white house and sit in a comfortable chair under one of his apple trees, and look out over the land. He didn't care a bit about the rest of the world. Oh, he wished them well, but he just didn't care to see it. And that's me. To some degree, I've been forced to travel. Like coming here to Harrah's at Lake Tahoe. I guess this is the most beautiful place I've ever seen, but I'm not sure I'd ever come here on my own. I'll take the "National Geographic" and read all about Australia, but I don't want to go there. Besides, I'm not that crazy about flying.
FW: Have you ever had any close calls flying?

RICH: Last December I did! I first knew we were in trouble when the stewardess came out of the pilot's compartment crying. When I got scared, I got mad, and I demanded to know what was the matter. She said the air speed indicator was out and the pilot had no idea how fast we were flying. Then the plane began vibrating like mad and we all knew something was wrong. When the pilot got on the intercom, I knew he was scared, too. He said in 38 years of flying, nothing like that had ever happened to him.

FW: How was he able to land?

RICH: A navy jet came up and our pilot controlled our speed by adjusting to it. We just followed it in. As soon as we landed, I said I wasn't going to get on another plane. I was going to drive back to Memphis!

FW: Did you?

RICH: Naw, I got back on the jet.

FW: Which of your records has been the most successful?

RICH: "Lonely Weekends"—it was the turning point in my career—and, of course, "The Most Beautiful Girl." But to get a hit song is the toughest part of all. Billy Sherrill, my producer, has a talent for picking songs I might not pick. I look for musical quality, but he knows what's commercial.

FW: Was your family very religious?

RICH: Yes, my father sang in the Baptist church choir. He had an enormous influence on my early life. Gave me quite a complex.

FW: In what way?

RICH: Well, being raised in the church the way I was, I had this guilty feeling when I was playing in all those dives.

FW: Have you any brothers and sisters?

RICH: Two sisters, and I also had a brother. He was killed when he was 12. I had a terrible feeling of guilt about his death.

FW: Why?

RICH: A whole bunch of us were in the yard when he started across the street. A car hit him. I was no more responsible than any of the others, but I always thought I should have done something. It's taken me most of my life to get over it. ... I'm not so sure I have.

People and You

Are White Lies Really Necessary?

At the same time parents try teaching honesty to their children, they also teach them to tell white lies. Dad cautions, "Don't ever tell the neighbor again that he looks like a very old man." Mother scolds her four-year-old, "Don't tell ladies that their babies are funny-looking." Three sociologists recently investigated the practice of telling white lies. They asked 130 people to write down a conversation with another person soon after it took place. After analyzing the answers, the researchers discovered that every person had admitted leaving out part of the truth at least once during the conversation. Altogether they reported telling the complete truth only 38 percent of the time. During the other 62 percent of their conversations, they were busy trying to save their friends' feelings or save themselves embarrassment. Sometimes they told a white lie. Sometimes they changed the subject to avoid an unpleasant admission. And often they told half a truth where they either hid or played down the real story. Apparently the sociologists have officially proved what people already suspect—that even basically honest folks will often resort to truth-evasion to make and keep friends.

RICH: Naw, I got back on the jet.

FW: Which of your records has been the most successful?

RICH: "Lonely Weekends"—it was the turning point in my career—and, of course, "The Most Beautiful Girl." But to get a hit song is the toughest part of all. Billy Sherrill, my producer, has a talent for picking songs I might not pick. I look for musical quality, but he knows what's commercial.

FW: Was your family very religious?

RICH: Yes, my father sang in the Baptist church choir. He had an enormous influence on my early life. Gave me quite a complex.

FW: In what way?

RICH: Well, being raised in the church the way I was, I had this guilty feeling when I was playing in all those dives.

FW: Have you any brothers and sisters?

RICH: Two sisters, and I also had a brother. He was killed when he was 12. I had a terrible feeling of guilt about his death.

FW: Why?

RICH: A whole bunch of us were in the yard when he started across the street. A car hit him. I was no more responsible than any of the others, but I always thought I should have done something. It's taken me most of my life to get over it. . . . I'm not so sure I have. FW

People and You

Are White Lies Really Necessary?

At the same time parents try teaching honesty to their children, they also teach them to tell white lies. Dad cautions, "Don't ever tell the neighbor again that he looks like a very old man." Mother scolds her four-year-old, "Don't tell ladies that their babies are funny-looking." Three sociologists recently investigated the practice of telling white lies. They asked 130 people to write down a conversation with another person soon after it took place. After analyzing the answers, the researchers discovered that every person had admitted leaving out part of the truth at least once during the conversation. Altogether they reported telling the complete truth only 38 percent of the time. During the other 62 percent of their conversations, they were busy trying to save their friends' feelings or save themselves embarrassment. Sometimes they told a white lie. Sometimes they changed the subject to avoid an unpleasant admission. And often they told half a truth where they either hid or played down the real story. Apparently the sociologists have officially proved what people already suspect—that even basically honest folks will often resort to truth-evasion to make and keep friends.

AMPUTEE FOOTBALL STAR "A great competitor"

"In spite of his disability, Gary Bush of Australia has proven himself a great competitor in junior varsity football," said Gary's coach. "I place him in a different position each week so he can become familiar with all types of play." Gary, 11, lost his left leg at age two in a car accident, but he remains undaunted. Said Gary: "Having an artificial leg hasn't hampered me in the least. Some day I hope to play center."

MINNIE PEARL No more foolishness

Country-Western veteran Minnie Pearl gave FAMILY WEEKLY her version of the Nashville scene: "I've been in Nashville for 40 years. I joined the Grand Ole Opry with such old-timers as Roy Acuff and Hank Williams. I've seen this city change from a carefree, informal society into a bustling business center, and of course I saw it grow into the mother city of country music. We used to talk foolishness here, but now everything is business. And why not? We've got the recognition now. Once we were a city of transients. We were considered a minority group. Now we're one big happy family. Sure we have our differences—that's true in any family; but we also have that marvelous, fierce loyalty to one another." Does she miss the old Opry house? (A new one was constructed last spring.) "It was hard at first, like giving up some old comfortable shoes." Minnie will be on ABC-TV's special, "The Grand Ole Opry at 50—A Nashville Celebration" on Tuesday, November 11 at 8:30 P.M. (E.S.T.).
